ADDED TOUCH . . . Calves were decorated with Hawaiian leis by Milldale Manager Art Johnson, Stewart Allen and Shoemaker.

Hawaii 'Imports' Choice Beef From North Platte

North Platte—A nationwide search for the finest in breeding cattle for shipment to Hawaii ended at North Platte.

One hundred twenty head of yearling heifers for upgrading and herd replacement stock left the Milldale Ranch for shipment to the islands. E. H. Shoemaker Jr., Milldale president, said the choice hereford stock will receive the best of care from the time of loading to their ultimate destination.

"They're travelling by rail to San Francisco, where they will be rested in quarantine for a week before being deckloaded on a freighter for the ocean voyage."

Shoemaker said Hawaiian cowboys are being flown from the McCandless Ranch to give special care to the calves from the west coast to delivery at the Hawaiian ranch.

He said this special breeding stock will be used to build up island herds to meet the increasing demand for high quality beef by the Hawaiians and the tourist trade.

The two ranches have entered into an agreement in which Milldale Ranch will supply breeding stock for the next several years.

Speech Called 'A Real Lever'

... HIT NAIL RIGHT ON HEAD

Washington (AP)—President Johnson called on religious leaders of the south Wednesday, and Southern Baptists in particular, to get behind the fight for a strong civil rights bill.

Turning a routine greeting into a plea for help, Johnson stepped into the rose garden outside his office and told 150 participants in a Southern Baptist leadership seminar:

"No group of Christians has a greater responsibility in civil rights than Southern Baptists."

The Southern Baptists, claiming 10 million members, are the dominant faith in many parts of the Deep South. And it has sometimes been said that the clergy of the denomination has shown considerable reluctance about taking up the cudgels for civil rights measures.

Great Care

Reading from a text that obviously had been prepared with great care, despite the absence of any advance hint that a significant pronouncement was planned, Johnson told the visiting church leaders:

"Your people are a part of the power structure in many communities of our land. The leaders of states and cities and towns are in your congregations and they sit there on your board. Their attitudes are confirmed or changed by the sermons you preach and by the lessons you write and by the examples that you set."

One Baptist spokesman, James Duncan of Washington, editor of the church publication Capital Baptist, said most of those present seemed to feel that Johnson's statement was "a real lever to move Southern Baptists to do more about the problem."

Hit Nail On Head

"Everyone there seemed to feel he hit the nail right on the head and gave us a challenge," Duncan said. He added:

"One hates to think the President should have to remind a denominational religious group what their responsibility is but perhaps it was needed."

Johnson said the civil rights cause "demands prophets in our time, men of compassion and truth, unafraid of the consequences of fulfilling their faith."

Injustice

He said, "There are preachers and there are teachers of injustices and dissension and distrust at work in America this very hour . . . who seek to turn back the rising tide of human hope by sowing half-truths and untruths wherever they find root."

Looking directly at his audience, Johnson said:

"Help us to answer them with truth and with action. Help us to pass this civil rights bill and establish a foundation upon which we can build a house of freedom where all men can dwell."

In this fashion, Johnson became the first chief executive to make a strong and direct appeal to southern church leaders to lead their congregations into the civil rights fold.

High Priority

However, White House Press Secretary George Reedy likened Johnson's remarks to statements the President has made on other occasions on the subject. Reedy said they reflected "the extremely high priority" the President accords to the civil rights bill now pending in the Senate.

The Southern Baptist leaders gave Johnson warm applause when he concluded his appeal.

Johnson said the efforts of people in government are not enough to pass the civil rights bill.

"I am proud to say," he added, "that in this cause some of our strongest allies are religious leaders who are encouraging elected officials to do what is right."

But, Johnson said, more must be done and, in this connection, asserted that Southern Baptists have as great a responsibility as any group.

In addition to the applause at the end of his speech, Johnson drew loud and frequent laughter with a series of jokes that had religious overtones.

'Convertes'

The President said he read a magazine article that reported three of his top advisers are Protestants. He said two of the three—Walter Jenkins and Jack Valenti—are Roman Catholics, while the third, Bill Moyers, is an ordained Baptist minister.

"The only conclusion I could reach after reading that article," said Johnson, "is Bill Moyers converted those two others fellows and baptised them in a mighty big hurry. Of course, that is why I keep the swimming pool full all the time."

The President said he wished his audience could have seen Moyers and Dr. Billy Graham, the Protestant evangelist, swimming together in the pool a few days ago.

"Everyone else was already a Christian," the President said, "so they just took turns baptizing each other."

Big Wave Capsizes Sport Fishing Craft

... FOUR KILLED, ONE MISSING

Boynton Beach, Fla. (AP)—A large wave capsized a 65-foot sport fishing boat within 50 yards of shore Wednesday, spilling 20 persons into the turbulent waters of Boynton Beach inlet. Four were killed and at least a half dozen others were trapped for horrifying minutes beneath the overturned craft.

Hours after the tragedy, one person was still missing.

"Oh God, it was unbelievable," said one of the survivors, Jerry Hopkins of New Carlisle, Ohio. "We didn't know what was happening. Then we were in the ocean . . . fighting for our lives. I was under water for what seemed like forever and finally came up gasping for breath."

Hopkins said, "I'll never forget those screams. One man was yelling for his wife. She had been with him on the boat and I had seen them together a few seconds before it happened."

The craft, a drift-fishing boat named Two Georges, was returning from an excursion in the Atlantic Ocean when the wave struck, according to spectators on the shore. The boat swung around 90 degrees and then flipped over.

The crew of three and the 17 passengers—ranging from teenage boys to elderly couples—were pitched into the frothy inlet, which is near Palm Beach, 65 miles north of Miami.

Some of the survivors floundered without assistance to a sandbar, where rescuers picked them up. Others were rescued by other craft in the area.

A Coast Guard patrol boat and three amphibious helicopters probed the scene. The rescue craft were dispatched there after the boat Candy Kid had radioed Miami Coast Guard that "numerous people are in the water. Some are trying to swim ashore. We believe others are trapped under the hull."

The Two Georges was one of numerous drift-fishing craft popular with tourists who visit Florida's east coast. In drift fishing, a boat cruises to a likely spot then cuts its engines while passengers fish over the side with poles or hand lines.

MERRYLE RUKEYSER

Rukeyser: Current Economics 'Cuckoo'

By CHARLES HUFF
Star Staff Writer

A syndicated economic columnist said Wednesday that this is a "cuckoo period of economics."

Merryle Stanley Rukeyser, author and economic consultant from New Rochelle, N.Y., characterized the period by referring to a new economic theory called the "triple revolution."

"The triple revolution—nuclear weapons, human rights and automation," Rukeyser told a press conference, "is an economic theory that divorces income from work and would give everyone a guaranteed annual income."

Generally theories such as this spring up during depressed times, he said, and are not expected now, thus the term "cuckoo."

Rukeyser is in Lincoln for a public luncheon address sponsored by the Lincoln Association of Life Underwriters at the Hotel Cornhusker Friday.

He said his travels convince him that "a wealthy nation is one with prudent concepts and operating principles" whereas an underdeveloped or backward nation is one ridden with fallacious ideas.

Democrats To Get Proposal Against Partisan Legislature

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

The Democratic state party platform committee and the Lancaster County Democratic convention will be asked to consider resolutions opposing efforts to make the Unicameral a partisan legislative body.

Lincoln Democrat James Exon said Wednesday he "would have resolutions introduced . . . opposing any change in our legislative structure."

Exon, long active in party affairs, is currently serving as President Johnson's campaign coordinator in Nebraska.

Party action opposing a partisan legislature would mark a change in the traditional attitude of the Democratic Party machinery.

The state executive committee endorsed a partisan Unicameral last year. Gov. Frank Morrison has opposed any change in the non-partisan body.

Exon indicated that he was "particularly concerned by reports that top GOP leaders were considering the use of party funds to buy or hire support for their lagging petition drive."

Various Republican organizations are actively supporting a petition drive to place the question of a partisan legislature on the November ballot.

Exon said he would "take up the challenge offered by certain groups in the GOP in their petition effort to turn the non-partisan legislature into a playground for the hard-core hierarchy of the Republican Party."

Exon said he was "confident that rank and file Nebraskans from both parties will oppose the end result of the petition drive which would force election of state senators on the basis of their registration as Democrats or Republicans."

The petition drive, he said, is "a slap in the face to the present senators and an attempt to give the GOP state chairman and national committee broad influential powers over the legislature which they do not currently enjoy with the non-partisan body."

Democratic State Chairman Russell Hanson of Newcastle also indicated a growing reluctance to support the petition drive, although he favors a partisan legislature.

"Not Enough Interest" If people are not signing the petition, "it seems there's not enough interest to go ahead with the drive," he said.

Stormy weather forced cancellation of a meeting of the Republican state executive committee scheduled in Lincoln Wednesday night. The committee was slated to discuss the petition drive.

Snow Brings City Problems

... ACCIDENTS MOUNT ON ICY STREETS

Two inches of snow in Lincoln Wednesday led streets, grounded some planes, and brought numerous traffic accidents on the fifth day of spring.

Police investigated 41 accidents, 34 more than the estimated average of seven per day. Frontier Air Lines reported "some of the morning flights were cancelled, and all that weren't cancelled were running late."

Two Nebraskans Killed On Slippery Highway In Iowa

Dexter, Iowa (AP)—Three persons were killed and two others were injured Wednesday in a two-car collision in a blinding snowstorm on U.S. 6 about three miles east of here.

Killed were LaVerne Hansen, 39, of Exira; Richard J. Dooley, 28, of Omaha, Neb., and Harry B. Sulle, 41, of Papillion, Neb.

Hansen and his wife, Rosemary, 38, were in one car. The two Nebraska victims and Raymond Osborn, 25, of Omaha, were in the other car. Mrs. Hansen and Osborn were hospitalized at Des Moines.

Officers said roads in the area were snow-packed and slippery, and heavy snow obscured visibility.

Overton Woman Dead Of Injuries Suffered In Crash

Cozad—A 53-year-old Overton woman, Mrs. Mildred Kirkpatrick, died Wednesday of injuries received in a two-car collision near here Monday, according to the Nebraska Highway Patrol.

She was a passenger in a northbound auto driven by her husband, John D., 52, which was in collision with a westbound vehicle driven by Benjamin Menke, 57, of Cozad.

Department of Roads said no highways were closed by the storm, and that roads, as a whole, were "about 90% clear" though slippery in sheltered areas.

The Safety Patrol reported only one minor highway accident in the Lincoln area blamed on weather.

City Street Superintendent Andy Bomberger said ten sand and salt spreading trucks were in operation starting at 4 a.m. Wednesday.

The storm dropped up to five inches of snow in various portions of the state. Pawnee City and Plattsmouth reported ed three inches and Sidney had five. Grand Island, North Platte, Norfolk, Beatrice, and Nebraska City all reported one inch, with Seward, Tecumseh, York, Scottsbluff and Hastings reporting two.

The low temperature for the state was five degrees at Norfolk and Seward. Scottsbluff had the high of 24.

The Lincoln weather bureau reported .17 of an inch of precipitation.

Lincoln's Wednesday morning low of six degrees was just one degree above the March 25 record of five, set in 1955.

Macapagal Warns Against Withdrawal From Viet Nam

By ROBERT EUNSON
Manila (U)—Withdrawal of American forces from Viet Nam "could lead to disaster," President Diosdado Macapagal of the Philippines said Wednesday.

But he cautioned the United States against intervention in Asian affairs and said the current crisis between Malaysia and Indonesia could be settled if "Asian nations get together to solve their problems."

President Macapagal made the statements at a private audience at Malacanang Palace with Wes Gallagher, general manager of the Associated Press who is on a tour of Asia.

Describing the Vietnamese war, where 16,000 U.S. troops are involved in the fight to wipe out Communist-backed Viet Cong guerrillas, Macapagal said he believed "withdrawal of Americans or neutralization of Viet Nam would affect all the countries of Asia."

"It could lead to a disaster, especially for those countries near Viet Nam," he said.

Macapagal was the third Asian leader who has told Gallagher in the last 10 days that the United States should retain military units in South Viet Nam until the war there is won. Prime Minister Hayato Ikeda of Japan and Gen. Nguyen Khanh of South Viet Nam expressed similar beliefs.

Asked what the United States should do in Asia, Macapagal smiled, his brown eyes twinkling:

"I hesitate to walk, how is it you say, where angels fear to tread, but there should be more projection of intention of American aid. It should be made clear that aid will not be used as a club, a weapon—to constrain the secondary country to act as the first country desires."

Macapagal did not use the word "colonialism," but it was clear that his caution was directed toward just that image.

Natural
"A decision should be made on the type of aid needed," he said. "The effect should be allowed to come out naturally."

The 53-year-old president was dressed in the traditional white barong shirt of the Philippines. He moved about in his swivel chair and gestured energetically to emphasize points.

Countries which need aid "often are in a rebellious mood because their independence came out of a sense of rebellion and they are in that mood," he observed.

Not the Same
He said the United States should not expect Indonesia or Malaysia, both much younger countries, to react in the same manner, internationally speaking, as the Philippines.

Jap Expresses Regrets In TV Relay From Asia

Tokyo (U)—In the first trans-Pacific live telecast from Asia, Prime Minister Hayato Ikeda expressed to the American people Wednesday Japan's deep regrets for the knife attack on U.S. Ambassador Edwin O. Reischauer.

Reischauer, who is making a good recovery from the bone-deep wound in his right thigh, sent word to his countrymen on the same program emphasizing the incident could have no possible effect on U.S.-Japanese partnership.

Norikazu Shiotani, 19, who attacked Reischauer, was being questioned by police. They described Shiotani as mentally deranged. They had not decided whether to charge him with bodily assault or attempted murder.

Unfortunate

"It is an unfortunate coincidence that on this occasion I have to express my heartfelt regrets on behalf of the people and government of Japan for the incident in which Ambassador Reischauer was assaulted and injured by a mentally deranged young man," Ikeda said in a message beamed to the United States via Relay II satellite.

"On behalf of the people of Japan, I express my deepest regrets for the stabbing."

The telecast lasted eight minutes. It marked the first time that a communications satellite was used to bounce a television broadcast from Japan or any other Asian nation to the United States. Viewers in the United States reported that reception was good and scenes of Tokyo were clear.

Assassination

Last Nov. 23, the United States inaugurated trans-Pacific telecasts by using a communication satellite to beam highlights of President Kennedy's life to Japan following Kennedy's assassination. For many Japanese the program provided them with the first word of the assassination.

Reischauer, had his message read by Jack Emmerson, U.S. minister in Japan.

The 53-year-old ambassador stressed that Tuesday's "unfortunate incident—or any such irresponsible incident—could have no possible effect on our great partnership."

Share Ideals
"We share the same ideals of freedom of the individual, the same hope for the economic development of mankind, and that same ideal of world peace under law," he said.

"The bonds between us are many, including political, cultural, economic and concern for our mutual defense."

Both Reischauer and Ikeda hailed the trans-Pacific telecast. Ikeda said he hoped the telecast's success would "further promote the friendly ties between us."

The male, year-and-a-half-year-old animal, as yet unnamed, originally came from Brazil. PARK URGES STUDENTS TO QUIT PROTEST

Seoul, Korea (U)—South Korean President Chung Hee Park Tuesday urged thousands of students to quit demonstrating against talks on normalizing relations with Japan and go back to class.

He told them that the talks will continue no matter how massive their demonstrations.

Park spoke over the nation's radio network as an estimated 12,000 students poured through the streets of major cities in the third day of demonstrations.

About 1,000 soldiers guarded the presidential mansion, but police and soldiers made no attempt to interfere with the demonstrations—biggest since a student-led revolt toppled president Syngman Rhee in April, 1960.

About 40,000 marched in Seoul Wednesday and 2,000 fought with soldiers near the palace.

Target of the student protests was the possibility that the government may give away too much in current diplomatic negotiations with Japan, once the overlord of Korea.

While the downtown parade was peaceful, tear gas grenades and stones whizzed in a clash between about 2,000 students from Hanyang University and 480 steel-helmeted troops 200 yards from the gate of President Chung Hee Park's Hillside mansion.

The troops, armed with American-made M1 rifles, fired more than 20 tear gas grenades to stop a march by the surging crowd on the mansion. The students retaliated with a barrage of rocks. A lieutenant and several soldiers were injured.

The hostilities broke off after Park's secretary, Lee Hui-rak, announced the president will meet with student representatives later this week to discuss their objections to the trend of talks in Tokyo intended to normalize relations between South Korea and Japan. The youths dispersed.

The demonstrations came in the wake of clashes Tuesday that left nearly 100 students and about the same number of policemen injured. Other young groups demonstrated quietly in Pusan, Taegu and Chongju.

U.S. Tells Backward Lands 'Forget Cliches Of The Past'

Geneva (U)—The United States called on backward nations Wednesday to make do-it-yourself contributions to the general welfare. They were urged to reorganize their economies and forget traditional fears of investment by foreign capitalists.

Undersecretary of State George W. Ball lectured the have-not countries in a general policy speech to the U.N. Trade and Development Conference, warning that their road to prosperity will be long and hard.

Ball urged them to open their doors to foreign capital and forget "the cliches of the past." He told them to get together in their own regional groups to expand their markets. Finally, he said, they must reform their internal policies and organization.

Intricate
"Economic development is an intricate and difficult process," he said. "It has proved difficult for the industrialized countries who have gone through it in the past, and it will be so for the newer countries going through it now."

The speech drew criticism in some quarters of the 122-nation conference and Cuba used the occasion for an attack on the U.S. economic blockade of Cuba.

However, "realistic" was the word used by several delegates in comment on Ball's remarks and a Latin American said:

"Ball came here like a Wall Street Broker and laid it on the line to us. We appreciated his clarity."

When Cuba's turn came several hours later, bearded Ernesto (Che) Guevara, economic chief in Fidel Castro's government, rose with a direct attack on the U.S. economic blockade of Cuba.

He demanded that the United States justify the blockade to the conference and that the conference do something about it. Although the U.S. delegation could have taken the floor in reply, it did not.

Prepared
U.S. officials insist they had been prepared for adverse reaction to Ball's speech, and one said, "We don't want to set up any high hopes." They explained that Ball was trying to be realistic.

The one point in the speech that drew favorable comment was Ball's indication that the United States would be more flexible in helping underdeveloped nations from regional common markets.

McNamara's Testimony On Aid Stuns Congress

Washington (UPI)—Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara stunned congressmen Wednesday by testifying that the administration is asking too little for military aid overseas this year because Congress probably won't provide a higher sum.

Democrats and Republicans alike on the House Foreign Affairs Committee expressed alarm and shock. They urged McNamara to submit a new request that will do the job.

"You shouldn't run from a battle before it begins," Rep. Peter Frelinghuysen, R-N.J., told McNamara.

Too Low
The defense secretary testified that the $1 billion approved last year for military arms aid to Communist-threatened foreign nations was too low to protect U.S. interests abroad.

But the same amount is being sought again this year, he said. "Because the Congress has made it crystal clear to the executive branch that it is unwilling to appropriate a large amount."

The arms aid request is part of President Johnson's proposed $3.4 billion foreign aid bill for the 12 months starting next July 1. It is the lowest foreign aid request since the program began 16 years ago, and is only $400 million more than Congress approved last December for the current budget year.

Both McNamara and Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, painted a dark picture of danger to U.S. security under the current levels of aid appropriations.

McNamara said there was a serious question in his mind whether the United States has enough money to finance South Viet Nam's war against Communist guerrillas.

For example, he said, the Pentagon found it needed twice as much ammunition in Viet Nam than was provided for in the budget. He said he took the "extraordinary action" of ordering the Army to send ammunition to Viet Nam from domestic U.S. stocks, a move he termed "a mortgage on the future."

Created Chaos
McNamara also said Congress' late action in slashing the last arms aid request by $405 million created "absolute chaos" in planning. Millions of war items were affected, he said.

Larger Farms, More Specialization Expected

... Dean Frolik Discusses Ag Future At Holdrege Clinic

Holdrege —Most Nebraska farms will continue to be family-operated units, but their nature will change markedly, persons attending the first of two agricultural clinics in southwest Nebraska were told here Wednesday.

Dean E. P. Frolik of the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture and Home Economics spoke on "Farming in the Future" at the educational meeting, co-sponsored by the South Platte United Chambers of Commerce and several other organizations.

Changes in agriculture expected to continue in the foreseeable future, Dean Frolik predicted, include an increasing need for capital, more growth in size of individual farm units, specialization in one or a few agricultural enterprises, and increased use of technical materials and procedures.

Current estimates on increased size of farm units during the next 10-20 years may be on the conservative side, the university agricultural leader commented. NU agricultural economists, in studying a five-county area of central Nebraska, determined that the average dryland farm comprised 520 acres in 1959. They believe the average unit in the same area will be 700 acres in 1980.

"I would anticipate a relatively more rapid increase in farm size for the eastern part of the state," Dean Frolik stated.

Small Farm To Stay

Despite the trend toward fewer but larger farms, he expressed doubt that the small, marginal farm will be eliminated.

"People live on farms for different reasons, and are willing to accept different income levels. We will have fewer marginal farms as time goes by, but they will continue to be a part of Nebraska agriculture in the foreseeable future," the speaker maintained.

Dr. Frolik made these other observations regarding the farming future in Nebraska:

As a part of the trend toward specialization, fewer units likely will be involved in the finishing of beef cattle.

Finishing will be on a large scale, with a striking increase in the number of operators keeping 200 to 1,000 animals in the lots the year-round.

Many people who used to fatten 10 to 100 cattle per year will now use cows, calves or yearlings to utilize rough feed and someone else will do the finishing.

Significant changes in farm machinery design will continue in the direction of larger and more efficient machines.

Eventually, robot-type machines will do work not acceptable to human labor. The time is coming when it will be impossible to hire people to do some jobs now being done by hand — such as cleaning barns, moving irrigation pipe and shoveling feed.

Crop varieties with higher yield potentials, as well as types that meet specific demands by processors, will continue to emerge. Acres devoted to soybeans and castorbeans in south central Nebraska will likely increase.

A large vegetable industry in Nebraska is a distinct possibility. Nebraska farmers will continue to expand fertilizer use, and soil testing will be stepped up.

NU agricultural economists, in studying a five-county area of central Nebraska, determined that the average dryland farm comprised 520 acres in 1959. They believe the average unit in the same area will be 700 acres in 1980.

"I would anticipate a relatively more rapid increase in farm size for the eastern part of the state," Dean Frolik stated.

Small Farm To Stay

Despite the trend toward fewer but larger farms, he expressed doubt that the small, marginal farm will be eliminated.

"People live on farms for different reasons, and are willing to accept different income levels. We will have fewer marginal farms as time goes by, but they will continue to be a part of Nebraska agriculture in the foreseeable future," the speaker maintained.

Dr. Frolik made these other observations regarding the farming future in Nebraska:

As a part of the trend toward specialization, fewer units likely will be involved in the finishing of beef cattle.

Finishing will be on a large scale, with a striking increase in the number of operators keeping 200 to 1,000 animals in the lots the year-round.

Many people who used to fatten 10 to 100 cattle per year will now use cows, calves or yearlings to utilize rough feed and someone else will do the finishing.

Significant changes in farm machinery design will continue in the direction of larger and more efficient machines.

Eventually, robot-type machines will do work not acceptable to human labor. The time is coming when it will be impossible to hire people to do some jobs now being done by hand — such as cleaning barns, moving irrigation pipe and shoveling feed.

Crop varieties with higher yield potentials, as well as types that meet specific demands by processors, will continue to emerge. Acres devoted to soybeans and castorbeans in south central Nebraska will likely increase.

A large vegetable industry in Nebraska is a distinct possibility. Nebraska farmers will continue to expand fertilizer use, and soil testing will be stepped up.

FRIENDS BORN SAME DAY DIE IN CAR CRASH

San Leandro, Calif. (AP)—The lives of Fred V. Schockley Jr. and Barrett Woodruff seemed drawn together from the very start.

Both were born on July 19, 1944. Fred in Lincoln, Nebr. Barrett in Oakland.

The two boys were classmates in elementary school and high school at Oakland and entered Oakland City College together.

But the greatest thing they had in common was that they were friends.

Monday night they doubled-dated.

They dropped their dates at their homes and then headed for Oakland.

The car swerved out of control, struck a divider in the middle of the Nimitz Freeway in San Leandro, then smashed into a trailer-truck.

Both young men were thrown out. Both were dead.

Relatives in Oakland said Fred was born in Lincoln while his mother was visiting Mrs. S. J. Dennis, Fred's grandmother.

Summary of Conditions

The low center that was the source producer Wednesday will move to the New England coastal area by Thursday night. The polar high pressure ridge extends from the polar high center in western Ontario into southern Manitoba thence southward through the Dakotas and Nebraska into western Kansas and Oklahoma. The ridge should move some eastward by Thursday night almost to Illinois while the west edge of this arctic air should retreat some eastward as a warm front to about western Kansas through the west portion of central Nebraska into the western Dakotas with the low in southern Saskatchewan moving into the area.

This should mean generally fair skies Thursday in Nebraska with a slow moderate trend. This trend should continue through Thursday night and Friday but some partly cloudy skies at least should move into Nebraska by Friday as well.

Extended Forecasts

NEBRASKA: For the five-day period, Thursday through Monday, temperatures will average four to six degrees below normal. It will be cold at the beginning of the period with a slow warming trend mostly Friday through Sunday. Normal highs are near 50 north central to mid 50s in the extreme southeast. Normal lows are mid and upper 30s central to lower 30s in the east. Precipitation will average .10 of an inch in the west and .20 to .40 of an inch in the east, occurring as snow or rain over most of the area Sunday or Monday.

KANSAS: For the five-day period, Thursday through Monday, temperatures will average four to six degrees below normal. It will be cold at the beginning of the period with a slow warming trend Friday through Sunday. Normal highs are near 50 in the southeast to low 50s in the northwest. Normal lows are mid and upper 30s in the extreme west to upper 30s in the southeast. Precipitation will average .10 of an inch in the west and .20 to .40 of an inch in the east, occurring as snow or rain over most of the area Sunday or Monday.

Hruska Calls For Speed Up In Missouri Channel Work

Washington (AP)—Sen. Roman L. Hruska, R-Nebr., called Wednesday for a speed up in completion of the 9-foot navigation channel on the Missouri River upstream to Omaha.

He said he is opposed to a proposed three-year time lag in scheduled completion dates of the channel to Kansas City and to Omaha.

Hruska questioned Army Engineers on their budget requests and on their engineering capabilities—what they might be able to use if given the funds—for the navigation project.

President Johnson's budget includes $3.5 million for work on the channel from Kansas City to the mouth, $2.7 million from Kansas City by 1966, to Omaha by 1969 and Sioux City a year or so later.

Brig. Gen. George H. Walker, Missouri River division engineer, testified before a Senate Appropriations Subcommittee, of which Hruska is a member.

In response to Hruska's questions, he said the engineers could utilize an additional $3.1 million on the work — $1 million for the Kansas City to St. Louis stretch and $2.1 million for Kansas City to Omaha.

This, he said, could advance the completion date to Omaha by at least a year.

School Addition Is Easy Winner

Chappell (AP)—The Chappell school district approved by a margin of more than four-to-one a $155,000 bond issue to provide for an addition to the elementary school building.

The vote was 427 for and 111 against.

The new addition will provide five classrooms, a music room, offices, and a kitchen for use in the school's hot lunch program.

No Light Dismissal

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

The American people, if they are to assume the responsibilities that are a part of the democracy in which they live, cannot lightly dismiss such matters as foreign aid. It is discouraging to view such expressions as those of Rep. H. R. Gross, Iowa Republican, against the foreign aid program. At one point, the administration seeks new authority to chop some 2,300 employees off the aid program payroll.

But the Iowa senator did not view this as a sign of efficiency on the part of the administration. Rather, he took it as an indictment of the program. Obviously, if the administration is to be attacked for spending and attacked for saving, then it can hardly come out ahead. This may be good news to members of the opposition party but it is no way to run a railroad. Gross also noted that in view of last year's cuts in the foreign aid program and the obvious continuation of the world, it was reasonable to assume that another billion dollars could be sliced from the current year's request.

This is about as great a bit of oversimplification as we have ever seen. For one thing, the request of President Johnson at $3.4 billion is $1.1 billion less than the request made by his predecessor last year. The President's current request is already at the level of last year's appropriation.

When dealing in a program of this size, it is obvious that some cuts be made, just as in good judgment some might think that funds should be added. But a cut of one-third even without consideration of the merits of the program represents a shortsighted and dangerous approach to the welfare of the nation.

While foreign aid was leaving the starting gate in congressional hearings, the chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, Sen. J. William Fulbright, Arkansas Democrat, was speaking out in favor of a more realistic foreign policy. The extremists will denounce Fulbright's position as it calls for recognition of Panama grievances in connection with our canal treaty with them and for recognition of the fact that communist Cuba is here to stay. He did not specifically call for official recognition of Cuba but it seemed to amount to just about that. The senator has a good point but one should not lose sight of the background contributing to his position. It is one thing to face reality when it is there but it is another to make an effort to shape the reality that will face you in the years ahead. It would seem that there is less danger now in recognizing Cuba for what it is than there was in permitting the situation to develop in the first place. These are thoughts we need to keep in mind in regard to the foreign aid program. In this connection, President Johnson stated in his foreign aid message: "Two-thirds of the proposed military assistance will go to 11 nations along the periphery of the Sino-Soviet bloc, from Greece and Turkey through Thailand and Viet Nam to the Republic of China and Korea. These funds are a key to the maintenance of over 3.5 million men under arms, raised and supported in large measure by the countries receiving the assistance."

What is the connection between this statement and that of Senator Fulbright? What the President is saying is that unless we continue to assist the long line of nations in the Asiatic continent, we may face the time when there will be the same reality confronting us there as we have today in Cuba and some other parts of the World. We have to determine whether or not we are willing to run the risk of leaving these nations to their own devices, whether we can depend upon nations that still are struggling for the political stability and economic freedom that we in this nation have long since come to take for granted.

We are justifiably critical of such situations as Viet Nam and Cuba and even Panama but what is the alternative? The only alternative is to take preventive action before conditions become such as to constitute a major threat to us. If we cut foreign aid too far, we face the loss of one of our most important preventive measures. Then we would be forced to look elsewhere and one possibility we would face would be to provide the military might ourselves that we now have in these foreign lands as a result of our foreign aid.

To provide this military might, however, would cost us far more than the kind of partnership we now run with these nations. It is easy to sit back and say to heck with the rest of the world; let us just take care of ourselves, but in doing so we are cutting off our nose to spite our face. The end product of this approach would be a problem far more serious than the economics of foreign aid.

LBJ Doesn't Mind A Little Homework

WASHINGTON — Turning off electric lights isn't the only thing the President does himself around the White House. The other day, Johnson was about to meet with a textile delegation when he discovered that most of the chairs had been removed from the cabinet room to an adjacent office.

So he started moving chairs himself. "Well, let's not just stand there, gentlemen," he said genially to the callers. "Please give me a hand with these chairs."

Sen. Ted Kennedy, D-Mass., and Sen. John Pastore, D-R.I., pitched in to help the President, though witnesses said they didn't work as fast as Johnson. "I know he carried in seven chairs," revealed Dev O'Neill, photographer for the Democratic National Committee. "I counted them."

There are more snafus inside the State Department than meet the eye when it comes to Latin America. One special ambassador whom LBJ appointed for the inauguration of President Laul Roni of Venezuela was Jim Suffridge, president of the Retail Clerks Union, a man with great prestige in labor circles both at home and abroad. But despite the fact that Suffridge was named by Johnson personally, the State Department never followed through with either official notification or arrangements for the trip. Suffridge contacted high administration leaders and they advised him to go to Venezuela anyway. However, he had no credentials and did not feel he should barge into Caracas and announce that he was a special ambassador representing the United States.

As a result, Suffridge's name appeared in the official Venezuelan program as a representative of the United States, but when Venezuelan officials looked for him he was not there.

Not a single member of the Kennedy family attended the big Democratic fund-raising dinner in the Washington armory last week . . . Bobby Kennedy made a hurried exit for Palm Beach just before the dinner . . . old friends of LBJ's are cautioning him to forget he's on the tailgate of a wagon when he speaks publicly. Lyndon has done so much barnstorming without benefit of a microphone as a young congressman that when he gets before a big crowd he forgets to fall back on electronics, not his lungs. At the big Democratic fund-raising drive he bellowed like a Texas bull. Interviewed on television four days before, he was relaxed, natural, and convincing.

BIBLE WORDS THAT GUIDE ME

O Lord, you have been our refuge through all generations . . . And may the gracious care of the Lord our God be ours; prosper the work of our hands for us! Prosper the work of our hands!

Psalms 90:1 . . . 17 Confraternity Version

By CONRAD HILTON

President, Hilton Hotels
My favorite Bible text is the Ninetieth Psalm, a prayer that so beautifully expresses the dependence of man on God. It has a very special significance to me, for the incisiveness of its passages provided much of the inspiration for the text of the pictorial presentation of "America On Its Knees."

In 1950, I made my first venture into public speaking with a speech entitled "The Battle for Freedom" before the National Conference of Christians and Jews. In this speech, I called for a re-awakening of our love of, and faith in God. In the months that followed, many letters arrived commenting on my talk. One among these reached deeply within me. It was from a 12-year-old boy, who said he agreed with me that "our faith in God is our only hope." He asked for a reply to his letter.

Shortly thereafter, I was on a train for Chicago and was thinking about the boy's letter. I saw a cartoon in a daily paper entitled, "When Problems Overwhelm." It depicted a portrait of Abraham Lincoln speaking to a harassed Uncle Sam saying, "Have you tried prayer, Sam?" To me that was confirmation of my vision. I went to New York to talk with friends who encouraged me to proceed. In the spirit of humility and with loving advice, a prayer took form. It applied the ancient wisdom of the Ninetieth Psalm to the modern day need for America to have unflinching faith in God.

Because I felt the need of re-expressing the belief of America's founders in prayer as a vital force in national life, on July Fourth, 1952, I published in some magazines a full-color pictorial presentation of "America On Its Knees." Uncle Sam was freely and confidently kneeling, knowing how to do battle for peace, and by his side this prayer. Within 24 hours after this printing, thousands upon thousands of letters came to my desk—27,000 in one day! Letters from nearly every country in the world, from each state of our union, from all walks of life, affirmed the fact that the final victory in the battle for peace will rest with God.

Since then, the prayer and the Ninetieth Psalm have been constant companions of my life. They have brought sustenance to my soul during periods of international crisis over the last decade. I am repeatedly buoyed by letters that continually arrive from persons throughout the Free World commenting on "America On Its Knees." It is this consensus of faith, from the heart of America, which demonstrates the national unity and purpose of our citizens.

His public addresses on such subjects as the United Europe movement, the growing menace of Communism, and the need for morality and leadership in government have been widely circulated and quoted. When he gave the address, "The Battle for Freedom," the National Conference of Christians and Jews presented him with its annual Brotherhood Award. He received a Freedom's Foundation award for the speech, "Blueprint for Freedom."

Signs Of The Future

It is impossible to tell at this time what will be the final recommendations of the Legislative Council Study Committee on Higher Education but there can be no doubt that the committee is now exploring a part of the state's future. It has concerned itself this week with an examination of the often discussed possibility of a coordination of the colleges and universities of the state under one head.

In Omaha, the committee was advised by Omaha University officials that any merger of that institution with any other state system is unwanted. The reason given was that such a merger would greatly increase costs and do harm to the over-all operation of the school.

Neither of the reasons is clearly understandable as the whole point of coordination or merger is for efficiency. But despite the Omaha position, some change in the structure of higher education in Nebraska is indicated, either with or without the Omaha institution.

How long can Nebraska continue to support, either at the local level or state level, the separate and independent two-year and four-year colleges and universities that exist? How long will it be before we have to economize through greater institutional specialization, through more effective use of faculty and facilities, through geographic centralization and through other means?

Very possibly, the state is not yet ready for consolidation and merger at the level of higher education but such an end seems inevitable. It seems so from the point of view of continued lack of adequate finances with all institutions and the nationwide trend in this direction.

Challenged By Salem

The little city of Salem, Illinois, has set forth to restore the birthplace of William Jennings Bryan, who was born there in 1860.

It will be done by the city's historical commission, which plans not only to restore the house, but to furnish it according to the period, gather together all of the historical mementoes it can obtain, and then turn the general grounds into a shrine. We gather the general idea is to return the Bryan name from Nebraska insofar as possible.

There can be no objection to Salem's aims. It is Bryan's authentic birthplace. If Salem is more responsive to Bryan's powerful cause, more understanding of the validity of his prophecies then it will be Nebraska's fault if it is reduced to a smaller role. It is true that a man is made by all of his experiences and childhood impressions strongly guide his future.

Bryan reached national stature as a Nebraskan. The stairway was provided by the Populist uprising and the grinding depression of the 1890's. He may have failed by narrow margins to reach the presidency three times. But like many losers he won his case anyway. The United States today far more lives by his teachings than by the dictates of those who successfully opposed his presidency. He was an income tax man, a foe of the gold standard, a devoted worker for world peace. It was his advice that more free circulation of money, better wages and shorter working hours would bring millions of workers more strongly into the market with greater security, and the result would be a greater, more rapidly progressing and better America.

That may have been strange and dangerous doctrine at the turn of the century. But that is how we are doing it today.

Mr. Bryan did quite a bit of winning.

The Deflated Crusade

A news item says the Republican state executive committee will consider a suggestion to pay petition circulators 15 cents for each name they get signed to petitions for a state referendum for changing the nonpartisan state legislature to a partisan one.

No such word has yet arrived from Democratic party organization headquarters although its political operatives have frequently expressed wistfulness for a return to party discipline.

Until the Democrats are heard from we shall have to conclude that the GOP has earned a merit badge for perseverance. We also conclude that voluntary grass roots response to the call for a partisan legislature is in a bad way. When it gets to the point of paying a bounty for names there is little more indicated enthusiasm than is usually shown by pheasants upon the announcement of the annual hunting season.

There is also a warning that the prospects of carrying a referendum are not bright.

The fact that Nebraska clings to its non-partisan legislature does not mean that partisanship has declined. It only means that the voters are reserving the right to practice the partisanship, themselves, as a guarantee they get the kind they desire.

If the party leaders feel that present legislative levels need improving, they have a more constructive alternative than seeking tighter control at the top, control that they would exercise. They could apply themselves at the precinct levels, diligently seeking out and encouraging candidates highly qualified for legislative duties. This would be an improvement of any sort of legislature and an immediate benefit to the state and all the voters. Lacking such recruiting not much can be said for any reform proposal. It is recommended that both party organizations do that first. Nothing further might be needed.

MARQUIS CHILDS

Ohio Goldwater Boom Fades Away

CLEVELAND — The rise and fall of the Goldwater movement is recorded nowhere so distinctly as in conservative Ohio where the late Sen. Robert A. Taft raised occasionally the suspicion of being a little radical and dangerous.

The fever reached its height last September when more than 3,000 Goldwaterites clamored for admission to a luncheon in Cleveland for the senator from Arizona. Cards pledging support and money rained down like manna from heaven. The expectation then was that the Ohio delegation to the Republican national convention would be pledged to Goldwater. And that prize might have cinched the nomination, putting the seal of Taftian Ohio on the Goldwater candidacy.

Today the delegation is anchored to a favorite son, Gov. James A. Rhodes. Where it will go eventually is a question a lot of Republican leaders are asking not only in Ohio but across the nation. The man who might supply a clue is sitting tight and saying nothing.

Ray C. Bliss, chairman of the Republican State Central Committee, is a professional in the great game of politics. Nervous members of his committee have been phoning him in his office in Columbus to suggest that maybe it was time Ohio found a candidate to back. He has given them his own view of the tactic to follow, which is to wait perhaps to the very day the balloting begins in San Francisco in mid-July. In short, to play the waiting game right down to the wire.

If many states follow this example it will make the convention the most exciting in a very long time. Ohio

Republicans have come to have profound respect for Bliss' judgment.

When they have ignored it, as they did in 1958, with the business hierarchy in the state insisting on embracing a right-to-work drive, the consequences have been dire. One result in '58 was to lead Sen. John Bricker running for re-election like a lamb to the sacrificial altar. He knew this as soon as the die was cast for right-to-work and if he had had his way he would have resigned then and there.

As a pro of Bliss has instilled in his faithful contributors some realization of the fact that politics is more than the ability to write generous checks.

Professional respect for a professional operation, and correspondingly professional contempt for an unprofessional operation, may have something to do with the doubts of the pros in the party about where the Goldwater movement was going. The direction has seemed increasingly random and rudderless.

While they are well aware of his errors in the 1960 campaign—three or four errors of judgment that probably cost him the election—the pros respect Richard Nixon's professionalism. They believe that if he should get the nomination this time he would be in an entirely different situation—on the offensive where he is at his best rather than on the defensive as he was four years ago.

The turning point to watch for in San Francisco will be when Bliss and the other pros with a lot to say about uncommitted delegations tip their hand. It is perhaps an even bet today that they will turn to Nixon.

Ford Empire

Lake Worth, Fla.

This is written in anticipation of verbal rocks that may be hurled your way by some "self-made" champion of "rugged individualism" because of your editorial, "Opening Future's Door," in the March 17 Star, concurring with the "Better Deal" program for turning the vicious circle of poverty entrapping multitudes from birth into an upward spiral of free enterprise and opportunity.

There is really no such person as a totally self-made man, no matter how talented and rugged an individual he may be. No person ever acquired a million by himself alone.

The Ford millions constitute a fair example of wealth to be acquired by industry as the system of honest free enterprise has produced. The Model-T Ford made Henry Ford a multimillionaire. Yet Mr. Ford never produced and distributed a single "tin-lizzie" by his own hands. A vast army of mechanical engineers, factory workers, salesmen, farmers producing and consumers working at trades and in business to give the farmers and themselves money to buy Model-T's—all these and many more contributed their bit to the Ford millions.

Henry realized and appreciated all that and managed his millions accordingly.

Indian Village

Lincoln, Neb.

It was a patch of weeds and ditches. Horseweeds grew 20 feet tall. Wild thorns tugged at a man's trouser legs. Tracks and trails invited a fellow to do a little hiking, provided he didn't mind cockleburrs and devil's darning needles.

Then a far-seeing group of businessmen and investors saw something rise above the sunflowers and the drifting sand. It was still a dream, a dream which took a lot of planning and a lot of work before the biggest single improvement on the south side of the city could come true.

Indian Village was going to have a shopping center. Red check-marks began to appear on a bulletin board. There would be a restaurant and a foodliner, and between these two, a barbershop, a beauty salon, a clothing store and a drugstore. Still others held their place among teepees to be built from dreams.

Present bus service is ideally spaced for recreation periods of four hours in the vicinity. Several lines serve the area. Lovely Van Dorn Park invites one for an outing with more frequent bus service. There are several fine eating places in the area.

Many people watched the burning of the much used houses and shacks to make way for the new business district. The trees were cleared. The brush was burned. A slab was laid down to provide for parking facilities. Here in the area once filled with old buildings that hid in the weeds stands Indian Village Shopping Center.

I find it rather disgusting to read of Senator Hruska's apparent concern over farmers going broke because of cattle prices. These same senators were not concerned in 1956 and 1957 when cattle were much lower and Danish hams were being imported. Hog prices dropped to nine cents on the farm.

Of course, Benson was agricultural secretary then and Eisenhower was in office.

I wonder if there are many people who live a life dedicated to doing good for their fellow men, shunning all evil, and having sympathy for the needy and those in trouble. I have sympathy for the unfortunate in the troubles that have befallen them. In this day and age, it is hard to keep on the narrow way. I try to live in such a way that I do all the good I can. When I get ready to leave this earth, I will not have anything to feel sorry about. I hope there are many with good intentions for their future days.

Sunny States Offer Bargains In Retirement Housing

By ROBERT PETERSON
Nearly every speaker sounding off on the so-called problems of older people laments the scarcity and high cost of retirement housing. Yet if these speakers were to scout current real estate markets they'd be astonished at the terrific buys in retirement housing these days—provided one is willing to move to new communities.

I have before me a letter from the vice president of one of the leading construction firms in the South. I'd mention the company by name except that it would sound like free advertising. I've visited several of its housing developments and can attest that the firm enjoys a fine reputation. "There's an abundance of good, low-cost housing for retirees," writes this official. "For instance, we have a new and very attractive community of small homes which—with their single bedroom, living room, dining area, kitchen and screened porch—offer as much living space as a large apartment, yet they sell for only $6,960."

"We can put retired couples into these homes for as little as $210 down, and $43.11 per month, including all prepayments on a 35-year FHA mortgage, principle, interest, taxes and premium payments on three insurance policies covering the home, its contents, and the homeowner's liability. "This price includes not only the landscaped lot on which the house is built, but the walk and street in front of it, a utility connection, and membership in a golf course, community center and marina."

If retired people really want fresh, new housing in a mild climate far from the congestion, crime and costs of big city living, they should waste no time looking into the attractive housing to be found in many retirement communities in the sunny southern and western states of our nation.

It is disturbing to think that some of the sad, disheveled elders seen scrounging through trash cans on city streets may be worth thousands of dollars. A week seldom passes that one doesn't read of an elder somewhere who has passed on leaving stately sums of money stashed away in his squalid living quarters. Just the other day there was the story about Miss Theresa Lindenthal, 92, of Sheboygan, Wis., who was thought by neighbors and acquaintances to be penniless. But when she passed on, executors rummaged through her tiny, dilapidated home, which hadn't been painted in 40 years, and found stock in 97 corporations—mostly blue chip securities worth $742,989. "She used to live on hand-outs," said an official of a local investment firm. "She would go to rummage and bakery sales and take whatever wasn't sold. She never spent more than $200 a year and carried her securities in an old shoe box. I once told her to go across the street and buy a nice leather case, but she told me she couldn't afford it."

Miserliness is a peculiar human aberration found in a good many elders who are otherwise intelligent. There's not much we can do about its victims, but we can vow to dispell any tendencies toward unwarranted frugality which may creep into our thinking as we grow older.

If you would like a booklet "Try to Include in Retirement Travel" write to this column on The Lincoln Star enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 10 cents to cover handling costs. Copyright, 1964, Kline Press, Inc.

Hayes Center (U) — One bond issue proposal won and a second lost in special elections here. Hayes Center School District No. 4 voted 175 to 65 to issue $185,000 in bonds for an addition to the grade school building, but a proposal to issue $250,000 in bonds for an addition to the county high school lost with 329 votes against the proposal and 191 for it. The proposed high school addition would have provided for a library, science room, music room, shop, boys dressing room and an expansion of the present gymnasium, Supt. B. L. Sevier reported.

Supreme Court Won't Review O'Kelly Case

The State Justice Department was advised Wednesday that the U.S. Supreme Court has rejected a plea by convicted slayer Dennis O'Kelly, 22, of Lincoln that it review his case.

The disclosure was the first information that O'Kelly had even appealed his conviction. The Nebraska Supreme Court last year denied O'Kelly's request that the Lancaster County District Court decision be reversed.

O'Kelly was found guilty of second degree murder in connection with the Aug. 4, 1962, death of his girl friend, Barbara Eastman of Lincoln. He was sentenced to life in the State Penitentiary.

Miss Eastman was beaten to death and her body discovered in Oak Lake near Lincoln, according to evidence presented at the district court trial.

Post Office Razing Appealed

A Columbus resident made that decision in December 1963.

Dericks, in his appeal transcript, contends the building is of "sound construction and would provide space for governmental offices or other governmental purposes if left intact."

He said a replacement structure would cost $300,000. Razing of the old post office "would be a waste of the taxpayers money," he contends.

The Columbus City Council Wednesday carried his legal attempt to prevent that city from razing an old post office building to the Nebraska Supreme Court.

The Platte District Court dismissed the suit by Arthur W. Dericks to prevent the city from tearing down the building and using the land for a parking lot.

The Columbus City Council made that decision in December 1963.

Road Dept. May Terminate B Street Job In McCook

State Engineer John Hossack said Wednesday the Department of Roads will terminate the B Street improvement project in McCook if the Red Willow District Court holds "null and void" a contract between the department and the city.

This would mean the city would lose about $285,000 in state and federal aid funds.

"The city has signed a contract with the department of this project," Hossack said. "Thus, if the court would hold the contract null and void, we would have to terminate the contract."

A group calling themselves "The Friends of B Street" have requested the district court void the contract. The group is opposed to the stipulation calling for elimination of parking from B Street, which runs through McCook as Ilighway 634.

The city and the department contend parking matters are an administrative and not a legislative function and therefore, not subject to court injunction.

'Pleas Won't Speed Interstate Progress'

Lt. Gov. Dwight D. Burney said Wednesday "the more we leave the State Highway Department alone the more interstate construction will get done."

Burney commented on recent pleas by western Nebraska residents that the department speed up construction of the Interstate from Kimball to the Wyoming border and an allegation by Rep. Glenn Cunningham, R-Neb., that an Interstate gap is present in Omaha.

"If the Highway Department has made a serious error in its planning," Burney said, "the planning can be changed without outside opinions on what is the best method." He said he is confident the Highway Department knows "when and where" to build the Interstate.

Governor Morrison, a Democrat, has called on the Highway Advisory Commission to re-evaluate its Interstate priorities. This will be done this summer and fall at a series of information meetings to be held throughout the state.

Under present priorities, Nebraska would not complete a connecting segment from Kimball in the Panhandle to the Wyoming line before 1971 or 1972.

Group Will Counsel On Retardation

The Governor's Interagency Committee on Mental Retardation Wednesday accepted the responsibility for serving as an advisory group for the administration of a statewide program to combat mental retardation.

The committee approved a preliminary plan and will act on it in final form April 22. The program would be administered through the State Health Department and the Nebraska Psychiatric Institute.

Dr. Thaddeus Krush, clinical director of community services at the institute, said the program will begin in July 1965 and continue a year to 18 months.

The plan has to be approved by the U.S. Public Health Service. The state would have to put up 25% of the cost on a matching basis.

Roman coins unearthed at medieval springs in the Pyrenees suggest that present-day Paulicians were a popular sect in the first century A.D.

Apartment Zoning Request Rejected

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

The City-County Planning Commission Wednesday denied an application for apartment housing zoning for a 10-acre tract east of 63 and Orchard.

Zoning was asked by First Realty Inc., but the commission was advised a St. Louis corporation proposed its development.

An attorney said court-type apartments were proposed with 100 units to be constructed initially and 100 more later as needed. A swimming pool would be included.

Planning Director Douglas Brogren recommended against multiple-dwelling zoning in the areas, now largely zoned for single-family residences.

Two Oppose

Two residents appeared in opposition to the application. A special permit was approved for a building addition

Car Men Re-Elect Reuther

Atlantic City, N.J. (AP)—The United Auto Workers Union voted Walter P. Reuther a 10th two-year term as president Wednesday but told him, in effect, he can serve only 10 more years at most.

In a scene reminiscent of political conventions, cheering delegates paraded with placards in also re-electing Emil Mazey as secretary-treasurer and Leonard Woodcock and Pat Greathouse as vice presidents.

Before turning to elections, the 1,250,000-member union's 2,375 convention delegates approved a constitutional change making retirement of officers mandatory at age 65.

Some delegates plugged for age 60, and Reuther, who is 56, told them the international executive board would provide in the union's pension plan for "normal retirement at 60."

He pointed out that the resolution forced retirement at 65, although anyone elected before that birthday could serve out his term. He elected for four more two-year terms, Reuther would be 64 in 1972 and eligible for one more term.

The union has had no mandatory retirement age, although its contracts with the auto industry generally fix 65 as the limit.

Mazey is 50, Woodcock 53, and Greathouse 48. George Burt, Canadian regional director, is 60 and nearest among executive board members to compulsory retirement.

Minor Complaint Leads To Attack, Policemen Report

Two Lincoln police officers who sought to arrest a man on a minor complaint Tuesday night said they were attacked by both the man and his wife.

Officers Richard Schneider and Warren Chastil went to the 27-year-old man's home with a warrant charging him with failing to have a license for his dog.

They said the man resisted their attempts to take him to police headquarters and that during the ensuing struggle his wife grabbed the officers' guns and pointed them at Schneider.

Chastil said Schneider took the guns from the woman and, when the man finally was subdued, she struck Schneider with a chair.

The man was fined $25 on the original count in Municipal Court Wednesday, and $10 on a second charge of resisting arrest. His wife was arrested on a warrant for assault.

for KOLN-TV. A spokesman said the proposed addition would about double present facilities at 40th and Vine and off-street parking would be provided.

The commission also recommended two changes in definitions in the city's zoning code.

One would re-define "family" as pertaining to residential districts and would, in effect, prohibit more than three unrelated persons from living in a single-family residence.

Brogren said numerous neighborhood complaints had been received regarding four, five or more college students or others living in a single-family house.

Single Unit

The new facilities definition would define a family as one or more persons related by blood, marriage or adoption, living as a single housekeeping unit.

Two other persons, not related, may live with the family. Persons under 17 years of age are exempted from the provisions if they are with the family for purposes of adoption or a foster care program.

Also proposed was code clarification of parking lots permitted by special permit in residential or restricted commercial areas to prohibit parking of cars for sale or repair.

The commission also reviewed with its county advisory committee the proposed County Zoning resolution. Several minor changes were made, including removal of proposed restrictions on billboard signs in rural areas.

Recommendations

Other commission recommendations:

- Special permit to H. C. Wittman to construct a parking lot adjoining commercial property near 48th and Wilshire Blvd.
- Approval of preliminary plat of Meadows Lane Eighth Addition near 84th and Vine and Walnut Heights south of the city in the three-mile district.
- Deferral of preliminary plat of National Addition near 62nd and Holdrege pending council action on requested multiple-dwelling zoning for an adjoining 10-acre tract.
- Approval of A-1 single family residential zoning for Cher Ami Knolls and adjoining area totaling 100 acres. The area, now zoned for rural and public use, is located on 27th extended about one mile south of Pioneer Blvd in the three-mile district.

Deadline Moved To March 31st For Interior Jobs

The Nebraska Division of the Izaak Walton League of America has extended to March 31 the deadline for applications from high school senior boys wanting summer jobs with the U.S. Department of Interior in conservation and natural resources management.

Thirteen outstanding boys will be selected on a nationwide basis, Prof. Howard L. Wieggers of the University of Nebraska, chairman of the selection committee, said.

Candidates must have plans to enter a college or university for study in natural resources and must be 18 by June 15, Wieggers said.

Applicants must send the following to Wieggers in care of the NU College of Agriculture Department of Poultry Science:

A completed U.S. government form No. 57 (available at any post office), a transcript of his high school record, a written recommendation from an adult, other than members of the family, and a letter for him indicating his college and career plans, describing extra-curricular activities, any conservation work he's done and giving reasons for seeking employment with the Interior Dept.

Amid the dinosaurs and rockets to the moon at the upcoming World's Fair in New York, the Simmons Company came up with a good, simple idea.

The Simmons Company is a maker of dream boats. When the Fair opens April 22, the company will have 46 cubicles. Each equipped with a Simmons mattress and bed. For a buck, you can go in and flake out for half an hour. Sleep will always be popular.

"Simmons is always snooping," said Jack Hubbell, the company vice president and its super-snooper.

Hubbell has been touring the U.S.—(and getting in very little mattress time for himself)—in company interests.

He lets people know how to sleep. The company studies sleepers. It has photographed married couples tossing, turning and snatching the covers from each other.

"Motion pictures prove dramatically . . ."

"Just a minute, Mr. Hubbell. Can we print this?"

"Absolutely, sir. Motion pictures prove dramatically that married couples are continuously disturbing themselves because the timing and location of their movements are not synchronized."

"You mean . . ."

"I mean the standard size bed is destroying marital sleep—possibly a threat to marriage itself," said Hubbell.

 New things every day, eh? It's a progressive world, men. And if your marriage is leaking at the seams, it may well be the size of the old kip.

"The amount of sleeper disturbance on the king-size bed is substantially reduced," said Hubbell.

"Do you realize that 80% of adult Americans sleep two in a double bed?"

 Well, it is interesting for one reason that the New York World's Fair information comes on the letterhead of William J. Donoghue.

And this must be my old pal, Bill Donoghue, who leaped off the Simmons in a San Francisco hotel room and woke up nude as a radish, locked out in the corridor.

That is a sleeping habit for the Simmons people to study. At the time, Donoghue was press secretary to Mayor William O'Dwyer of New York City. The mayor was visiting San Francisco.

"I woke up with a powerful thirst," Bill told me the next day. "I groped my way to the bathroom and shut the door behind me. When I opened my eyes I was in the corridor. The door was spring-locked behind me."

Bill had to walk down six flights of stairs and go

"past" to the desk clerk. From behind a sheltering bannister.

"I couldn't even find a towel," said Bill.

It changed his sleep habits. Thereafter he wore pajamas.

 Hubbell says America is gradually changing over to the king-size bed—California leads all states in the change.

Two studies of the Simmons Sleep Research Foundation turned up some interesting facts on us.

"Entertainers do the most eating in bed. Missile executives and nurses do the most smoking in bed. Housewives and doctors have the hardest time sleeping. They report the most insomnia."

"Men do the most talking in their sleep. And housewives do the most dreaming. However, entertainers do most of their dreaming in color."

 The Simmons people checked the wake up time, too. They found standard size bed people "resentful" down to "fighting mad." While the king-size wake ups were "rarin' to go" or "good sports."

They hope everybody will get into king-size beds—with Simmons mattresses, naturally.

Scientist With Cancer Tells How To Bear It

By FRANK CAREY
Palm Beach Shores, Fla. — An active woman scientist who has learned to live with her own incurable cancer Wednesday offered a five-point program of advice for all cancer sufferers.

Her first point: Always consider yourself one of those who can beat the averages, however grim.

The others offered by Dr. Olive Stull Davis, 59, and outlined in an interview at the sixth annual seminar for science writers sponsored by the American Cancer Society, were these:

1. Try to avoid excessive fatigue and nervous tension.
2. Keep as busy as you can.
3. Have a hobby.
4. Seek, in addition to your regular treatment, "the healing effect of nature through contemplating the trees, the ocean or any water, and the sky."

She talked to a reporter after telling the meeting she was stricken with highly malignant cancer of the lymph system 11 years ago. She was experimenting with a tumor virus that causes one of the major killer diseases of chickens and has decided to devote her career to trying to find out whether the virus is transmissible to man and to other animals.

Not Much Wrong
She's in good general health he said. "There's nothing wrong with me but cancer," Dr. Davis, an associate professor of veterinary science at Purdue University, declares that her doctors have told her she's already survived much longer than the average expectancy for her type of cancer.

"And so," she said, "I tell other cancer patients about my own case whenever I can."

DR. OLIVE S. DAVIS

And I tell them what a very wise doctor — the late Dr. Ivan Smith, formerly director of the Ontario, Canada, Foundation for Cancer where I go for my radiation treatments with the 'cobalt bomb' — once told me."

"He said: 'We know so little still about what we can expect in an individual case of cancer — even though we may know what to expect on the average — that any given individual may be among those who will live far longer than the average expectation. And there's no way of knowing who these individuals are who will respond better than the average to treatment. And you may be one of these.'"

"It Helps"
Then Dr. Davis said: "I've told that to so many cancer patients who had been terribly discouraged, and they have found it helpful."

But she added that in keeping cancer patients from getting discouraged, "a lot depends upon how the doctor handles the case psychologically."

"In too many cases," she said, "doctors are too brutal and say: 'Your case is hopeless — We can't do anything for you.' No doctor should take away a patient's hope."

Mine Hurts U.S. Officer

Saigon, South Viet Nam (UPI) —An American Army officer was wounded and two South Vietnamese military men were killed when their jeep hit a Communist Viet Cong mine about 30 miles south of here, it was reported Wednesday.

The officer was the ninth American casualty in two days. He was taken to the U.S. naval station in Saigon where his condition was reported as good.

Two Americans were killed and seven wounded in combat associated incidents Monday and Tuesday. The fatalities brought to 202 the number of American servicemen killed in South Viet Nam since January, 1961.

One of the two South Vietnamese killed by the mine was Lt. Col. Tran Hoang Quan, military chief of Dinh Tuong Province. The other was a Vietnamese army lieutenant.

Tran was appointed to his post late last year after the military coup that overthrew the regime of the late president Ngo Dinh Diem.

CHARGE IT...it's easier to Pick, easier to Plan, easier to Pay!

Hospitals' Charges To Avoid Control

The charges patients pay for hospital care were pictured Wednesday as an alternative to the possibility of government control.

Hal G. Perrin, president of the Nebraska Hospital Association, told 42 hospital administrators attending the institute on hospital financial management and capital financing that "without adequate patient fees hospitals would have to seek funds from the government, and subsequently come under government control."

The session was sponsored by the Nebraska Hospital Association and the American Association of Hospital Accountants. It was held at Nebraska Center.

Agreed
Harry O. Humbert, associate vice president of Roosevelt Hospital in New York, agreed with Perrin: "Patients must pay for hospitals. If they don't, who will? If they don't we must revert to the public or the government for funds."

Perrin attributed part of the cost of hospital care to salaries of hospital employees. "About 65 to 70% of the total hospital budget is paid to employees, and their high salaries demand the skyrocketing of hospital rates."

Perrin told The Star that in general, "Nebraska hospitals depend on income from patients" to provide money to pay off hospital debts.

He added, "Community contributions, foundations, industry and individual donations also help to pay for expansion and improvement of facilities."

Main Purpose
Perrin said the main purpose of the day-long conference was to give the administrators an opportunity to discuss problems involved in hospital care, to try and understand hospital costs and to interpret this information to the community.

He said one of the biggest problems faced by administrators is that of how to furnish the public with "top-flight hospital care at the lowest, fairest prices."

Perrin told the group about an "electric doctor" under development and said that in the "not-too-distant future computers will be used to diagnose medical cases."

Tested
He said an experimental computer has been developed and has been tested by doctors who approve of its ability to diagnose a medical case from information fed into it.

He said the computer digests such information as physical symptoms, body temperature and coloring and comes up with a diagnosis.

Old Tomb Found

Studicka Urges 'More Integrity' Among Senators

James Studicka of Lincoln, candidate for the Legislature from the 26th District, Wednesday called for "more basic integrity in the Legislature," stating it was up to the senators "to establish a new image of dignity that the office demands."

To diminish what he termed "lobbyists' influence" on the Legislature, Studicka outlined a program called for:

- accepting Ford Foundation grants for legislative assistants who would be college graduate students to conduct research and assist in bill drafting.
- requiring the attorney general to be apprised of legislators' occupations and "when it appears that a senator's occupation is in conflict with the constitutional provisions against a sell-out, the senator should be legally rejected from the legislative body."
- opening to the public all legislative committee deliberations.
- requiring a pledge from each legislator to "boycott the training tables, booze parties and free whoopee cruises offered by lobbyists."

Some Vets' Mail Delayed Because Number Missing

Thousands of veterans annually experience delay in correspondence with the Veterans Administration (VA) because of their failure to identify themselves properly by use of claim number (often called C-number), A. H. Duxbury, VA regional manager for Nebraska, said.

He said there are more than 200,000 names of veterans in the active files of the Lincoln VA regional office.

Without the C-number, Duxbury said, it's difficult to relate the veteran's letter to the correct file.

Infant Boy Found Dead In His Crib

Dwayne K. Riley, 22-day-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Riley, of 2311 Vine, was found dead in his crib by his mother Wednesday morning, according to Detective Roe Heston.

Heston said the baby's doctor and Deputy Sheriff Harlan Kendle, acting coroner, examined the baby at the home.

Kendle said an autopsy was to be performed to determine the exact cause of death.

COURT RECEIVES PAINTINGS

Faith in rehabilitation and the opportunities for youth when properly directed were demonstrated Wednesday by Jerry Milton, a 16-year-old junior at West Kearney High School. Milton, pictured at right, presented original paintings to the Juvenile Courts of Lancaster and Douglas Counties as a symbol of what some youths are accomplishing at the school.

LAFB Dispensary Will Be Dedicated This Afternoon

Formal opening dedication ceremonies for the 15-bed Lincoln Air Force Base dispensary will be held at 1:15 p.m. Thursday.

Principal speaker will be Lincoln director of Safety and Welfare Emmet Junge. Dr. F. H. Hathaway, president-elect of the Lancaster County Medical Society, will also speak. Lincoln Mayor Dean Petersen had been scheduled to address the group but had to cancel his appearance because of the funeral Thursday at Hampton of his brother Aaron's wife.

The formal ceremony will be preceded by a luncheon in the officers mess.

Ground was broken for the new dispensary in October, 1962. Final inspection was held in January of this year.

CAPITOL 'SOS' ELIMINATED— JOBS ARE TOO

Juneau, Alaska (AP) — Legislators arriving at the Capitol found both the United States and State flags flying upside down, the international distress signal.

There was a suspicion it was not accidental.

The jobs of numerous House of Representatives employees would be eliminated by the general appropriations bill, which was scheduled for action by the House Tuesday. Later in the day, it was passed.

Meantime, the flags had been quickly changed.

A Special Cake For A Special Occasion

A spectacular and lovely "special occasion" cake is nearly every homemaker's pride and joy. And why not, there are so many occasions for serving it—birthdays, dessert and coffee parties and, of course, potluck dinners. Here's a real dazzler that can become your hallmark—Pineapple Coconut Cake.

You'll fashion Pineapple Coconut Cake from three layers of tender butter cake, putting it together with rich pineapple filling. Smooth more filling over the top cake layer before covering all with snowy coconut frosting.

PINEAPPLE COCONUT CAKE

- 3 cups sifted enriched flour
 - 1 tablespoon baking powder
 - 1 teaspoon salt
 - 1 cup butter or margarine
 - 1½ cups sugar
 - 1 teaspoon vanilla extract
 - 1½ cups milk
 - 4 egg whites
 - Pineapple Filling
 - Coconut Frosting
 - 1½ cups shredded coconut (4-ounce can)
- Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Cream together butter or margarine and sugar until light and fluffy. Blend in vanilla extract. Add flour mixture to creamed mixture alternately with milk, mixing until well blended after each addition, beginning and ending with flour. Beat in egg whites one at a time, then beat at high speed on electric mixer for 1 minute or 200 strokes by hand. Turn into three greased 8-inch round pans. Bake in moderate oven (350° F.) 25 to 30 minutes or until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. Cool 10 minutes before removing from pans. Cool completely. Assemble cake, spreading cooled Pineapple Filling on top of all three layers. Frost sides and top of cake with Coconut Frosting. Using a small flat spatula or silver knife, lightly "spread" coconut up sides of cake. Sprinkle top of cake with remaining coconut.

PINEAPPLE FILLING

- ¼ cup butter or margarine
 - 1 cup crushed pineapple (1-pound can, well drained)
 - 6 egg yolks
 - ½ cup sugar
- Melt butter or margarine in top of double boiler. Stir in pineapple, egg yolks, and sugar. Cook over hot water until mixture thickens, stirring frequently. Remove from heat and cool completely before spreading on cake layers.

COCONUT FROSTING

- 2 egg whites
- 1½ cups sugar
- ½ cup water
- ¼ teaspoon cream of tartar
- 1 teaspoon coconut flavoring

Beat together egg whites, sugar, water and cream of tartar in top of double boiler. Cook over boiling water for 7 minutes, beating constantly. Remove from heat. Add coconut flavoring and beat 2 minutes longer. Spread over sides and top of cake.

Makes 13-layer cake. "If you don't sift and in the absence of other directions, spoon flour directly from container into a one cup dry measure, level off, then remove two level tablespoons, according to USDA recommendations."

NOTE: If self-rising flour is used, omit baking powder and salt.

New Ideas

DATE ALASKA COOKIES

Fold chopped fresh dates into a stiff meringue. Spoon onto center of slices of refrigerator cookie dough and bake as package directs.

SANDWICH APPEAL

Top an open-faced egg or ham salad sandwich with thin slices of avocado sprinkled with lemon juice and salt. The delicate flavor and attractive color of avocado will arouse new interest in sandwiches.

FRUITED EASTER HAM

Ham is a "must" for Easter and here's a way to serve it at breakfast that sings of Spring. Roll slices of canned ham and secure with picks; brown lightly and drain off excess fat. Spoon drained canned fruit cocktail over the ham, add a little grated orange rind and cover and heat through. Great with pancakes, waffles or French toast!

RIPE OLIVE MUFFINS

Serve ripe olive muffins for a Sunday supper treat. Chop ¾ cup ripe olives; stir into biscuit mix batter for 12 medium-size muffins.

DANDY DATE FROSTING

This easy frosting, packed with nutrition, goes well with any flavor of cake mix. Prepare batter as package directs and bake in 13 x 9 x 2-inch pan. While still warm, spread cake with a mixture of peanut butter, chocolate pieces and chopped fresh dates.

AVOCADO FOR TUNA

Dress up tuna salad with sliced California avocado.

A Pork Roast Wears A Crown

A Crown pork roast, filled with a flavorful apple-raisin stuffing and roasted to perfection is sure to be enjoyed by the family on Easter Sunday. A zesty fruit bake, flavored with a touch of ginger, is the ideal companion to the crown roast.

Have the butcher make you a crown—the king of pork roasts. Season with salt and pepper. Place in roasting pan, bone ends up; wrap bone ends in aluminum foil to prevent excess browning. Roast, uncovered, in a slow oven (325 degrees F.), allowing 30 to 35 minutes per pound. Allow 1 to 2 chops per serving.

An hour before roast is done fill center of crown with apple-raisin stuffing.

APPLE-RAISIN STUFFING

- 1 package herb-seasoned stuffing
 - 2 cups chopped peeled apples
 - 1 cup seedless raisins, parboiled
 - ½ cup minced onions
 - ¼ cup snipped parsley
- Prepare stuffing according to package directions. Add remaining ingredients and toss lightly to blend. Spoon stuffing into center of crown roast.

GINGER FRUIT BAKE

- 1 can (1 lb.) cling-peach

- halves
- 1 can (1 lb. 4 oz.) pineapple slices
- 1 can (1 lb.) pear halves
- 5 or 6 maraschino cherries
- ½ cup butter
- ¾ cup brown sugar
- 1 teaspoon ginger

Drain fruits, then dry well on paper towels. (Remaining juices may be combined for a refreshing drink.) Arrange fruits in a 1½ quart casserole or an oven-proof mold.

Melt butter; add brown sugar and ginger; spoon over fruit. Bake in a slow oven (325 degrees F.) for one hour. Serves 10 to 12.

Lamb Chops Deluxe

A truly elegant meal could feature these succulent lamb chops topped with chicken and crusty crisp with French onion thins cracker crumbs.

STUFFED LAMB CHOPS

- 2 cups cooked and ground chicken
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ½ teaspoon ground black pepper
- ½ teaspoon basil
- ½ teaspoon onion juice
- 6 tablespoons heavy cream or enough to moisten
- 2 eggs, slightly beaten

- 1½ cups French onion thins cracker crumbs, finely rolled

Pan fry chops on both sides until browned. Drain on paper towels. Combine chicken, salt, pepper, basil, onion juice and enough heavy cream to moisten. Spread ½ of the mixture on top of each chop. Coat each chop with French onion thins cracker crumbs and then dip in the beaten egg and coat again in the cracker crumbs. Place in a shallow roasting pan in a hot oven (425 degrees F.) 20 minutes or until golden brown. Makes 8 servings.

NORTHEAST HEIGHTS

The typical Easter outfit this year just may include wool gloves and snowshoes, dyed to match your parka, but it doesn't seem to have chilled too many spirits.

It's almost fun, shoveling snow in spring, uncovering all those foolish little flowers which decided to make an early entrance.

Who can be downcast by a post-season snow when there are so many wonderful, warm days to look forward to? At least, that's what we keep saying as we trudge against a freezing wind.

Only nine more months, and it's Christmas. If it just keeps snowing, we might really have a white holiday this year!

One of the many social activities which has been keeping Northeast Heights residents' minds off the weather has been entertaining guests. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Jones were host and hostess to some friends Friday afternoon. They were Mr. and Mrs. Carl Haar and their three children, Tommy, Susie, and Scottie, of Minneapolis, Minn., who were visiting in Lincoln from Wednesday to Sunday. They were the houseguests of Mr. Haar's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Haar, Sr. of Lincoln during their stay.

Mrs. Jones will be also entertaining this evening for her bridge group. We understand that for dessert she will be fixing something special — Baked Alaska cupcakes, which only serves to prove how much non-bridge players miss.

Her guest for this evening will include Mrs. Stan Toney, Mrs. William Maly, Mrs. Harold Thompson, and Mrs. Curtis Adams. Mrs. Jones told us she had a double purpose for the bridge get-together. It will also be the "unveiling" of a picture painted for her home by Mrs. Maly.

Easter plans at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Willemssen and their children, Larry and Nancy, include a Sunday trip to the home of Mrs. Willemssen's brother, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Klein and their sons, Gary, Johnny, Jimmy, Denny, and Dale, for an evening dinner.

Traveling to Nebraska City for Easter Sunday will be Mr. and Mrs. Arthur C. Mundt, who will be the guests of Mrs. Mundt's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Carr.

Mr. and Mrs. Vyrlie Monia motored to Wichita, Kan., over the weekend to visit their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. William Epperson and their children, Alan, Bruce, and Sue Ann.

This week at their home, Mr. and Mrs. Monia have as guests their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Gary Kunert and their daughter, Julie, of Grand Island, who arrived Monday. They will depart for home Friday.

And completing the Easter guest list in Northeast Heights will be the visitor at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence E. Cook — Mrs. Cook's mother, Mrs. Ralph DeMoulin of Hastings. Mrs.

DeMoulin will arrive tomorrow for a four-day stay.

BERLENE HEIGHTS

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Fiene spent a busy weekend, beginning with a trip to Falls City Friday. They attended the confirmation of Leon Arnold, son of Mrs. Fiene's nephew and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Arnold, at St. Peter's Church in Barada on Sunday, and the marriage of Carl Arnold, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Arnold, to Miss Bonnie Forman at St. Paul's Church in Falls City.

Before returning home, Mr. and Mrs. Fiene also visited Mrs. Fiene's nephew, August Karst, who is presently recuperating at the Illawatha Hospital.

PRAIRIE VALLEY

Mr. and Mrs. H. Claire Helmsdoerfer will have as guests Thursday evening Mrs. Helmsdoerfer's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Callagan; and her sister, Mrs. Getrude From, all of Kansas City, Mo.

Their visitors will leave for home after Easter.

INDIAN VILLAGE

Returning home on March 18 from a sunny trip to Scottsdale, Ariz., were Indian Village residents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gobber.

They spent their several weeks holiday as the guests of their son-in-law and daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Dietz.

Midwest Takes Honors In Metropolitan Auditions

Nebraska has a slight share in the honors bestowed upon the Midwest by the Metropolitan Opera Co. Nebraska is a member of the district which held its district finals in Minneapolis early in March. The reflected glory of the state ends there. Three district contestants from the Nebraska area did appear in the Minneapolis auditions but, mainly due to their extreme youth and lack of experience were not among the winners.

But Robert Goodlow, public relations director for Simpson College, Indianola, Iowa, was a winner. Last Sunday Mr. Goodlow won again—this time in the national finals held in New York City. As a matter of fact Mr. Goodlow took top honors which included, of course, a contract with the Metropolitan Opera Co. He also received the Stuart and Irene Chambers award of $2,000.

Mr. Goodlow, a baritone, sang the aria Nemico della patria from Giordano's "Andrea Chenier."

Another winner from the midwest was Miss Mary

Beth Teil of Davenport, Iowa, who received a contract with the Metropolitan National Opera Co., an organization that will create considerable interest in its tour of various states.

A third winner in the auditions was a soprano from Tulsa, Okla., but Mr. Goodlow, the top winner, and Miss Teil, walked off with the major honors.

Easter Traditions Are Centuries Old

For more than 1500 years the feast of Easter has marked the resurrection of Jesus Christ.

Yet, the Easter season is not simply a Christian story. The name comes from pre-Christian times. From time immemorial, the season has been the occasion for rites and observances of the vernal equinox, the beginning of spring.

Though centuries old, many of the customs of Easter have survived into our own day.

The colored egg is almost universally employed as a symbol of spring, fertility, and the Resurrection. "Long before the Christian era, eggs were regarded as symbols of life and rebirth."

The ancient Persians, Greeks, and Chinese exchanged eggs at their spring festivals, and to the earliest Christians, they were obvious symbols of Christ's Resurrection. The custom of coloring eggs, practiced by ancient Persians, may well be as old as the festival itself.

The Easter bonnet, subject of song is today's substitute for the spring flowers worn in the hair of maidens at spring rites 2,000 years ago. The rooster is another Easter symbol, the trumpet-voiced bird which chided Peter to repentance and welcomed the dawn, when Christ's Resurrection occurred.

Hot Cross buns are eaten on Good Friday, combining the Cross and simple bread, while Ham is a traditional Easter dish, the first cooking of the winter's curing Schinken, Ham Sunday, is still known in modern Germany.

The rabbit first appears in ancient Egypt, as a symbol of fertility. The word Easter itself is derived from Eostra, the goddess of spring. According to legend the Easter rabbit originally was the beautiful pet bird of Eostra. To delight children everywhere, she supposedly changed her bird into a generous rabbit. Still a bird at heart, the Easter bunny builds nests and fills them with gaily colored eggs to delight children.

One of the most endearing of the Easter legends is that of the dogwood, a tree which once grew tall as oaks with wood so strong and firm it was chosen as the timber for the Cross. In the legend, the tree was greatly distressed, but Christ understood and promised that never again would it grow tall or strong enough to serve as a cross. And so today the dogwood is a slender, beautiful tree.

YW Classes Scheduled

The Lincoln YWCA has announced several new classes for adults for which registration may be made this week.

Of special interest is the two-session class, "The Second Forties," planned for women who are considering returning to work. Miss Grace McCaslin and Miss Dorothy Thorngate will instruct the class, to be held at 7:30 o'clock, Monday evenings, April 6 and 13.

A program, "In Search of Meaning," will be held at the YW on Monday, April 6, from 1:30 o'clock to 3 o'clock. Planned to help individuals increase their knowledge of the Christian faith, the discussion program will be led by Mrs. Elden B. Hiltz.

A new class of bridge instruction, open to both men and women, will begin at 7:30 o'clock, Monday evening, March 30. The eight-week course will be instructed by Mrs. A. E. Harrington.

Town Talk

It is a little too early to make a prediction about the weekend—weatherwise, that is. From a social standpoint we can say that it will be gay.

There are, of course, two weddings—that of Miss Anne Aitken and David Myers on Saturday morning—and Miss Susan Wertz and Donald Smith on Saturday afternoon.

With two weddings on Saturday it naturally follows that there will be pre-nuptial courtesies on Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. William I. Aitken, for instance, will preside at the bridal dinner for their niece, and Mr. Myers on Friday evening at the Lincoln Country Club. The guest list will include the members of the families and the bridal party.

Complimenting Miss Wertz and Mr. Smith on Friday evening will be Mr. Smith's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph W. Smith, who will entertain the families and the bridal entourage at their home. Coming from Denver will be Miss Wertz's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Wertz, formerly of Lincoln.

Also on the calendar for Saturday is the spring party for members of the Mid-nights Dancing Club. Arranging the details for the dance, which is to be held in the Terrace Room at Hotel Lincoln, is a committee composed of Mr. and Mrs. Gil Deltmeyer, chairman; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Heggen and Mr. and Mrs. George Heggen.

Guest couples at the party will include Mr. and Mrs. Jack Boettcher, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Connor, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Gilmore, Capt. and Mrs. Richard Sullivan, Dr. and Mrs. Robert Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Urbom, Mr. and Mrs. John Long, and Mr. and Mrs. Ted Thompson of Fremont.

Learned this morning that Mr. and Mrs. Howard Slemmon of Chicago will be arriving on Friday to spend Easter — and the following week — with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Corey Gausman.

Numerous courtesies have been planned for Mrs. Slemmon during her stay in town.

Q. I have very bony collarbones and shoulders. What is a flattering neckline for me to wear?—MISS D. E.

A. All necklines that are covered, such as cowls, rolled collars, high bateaus, and necklines with soft bows or scarves.

Q. How do I determine correct button size?—MISS L.M.

A. If the size is not indicated, measure the button-hole marking on the pattern tissue and subtract 1/8-inch.

Q. Can I teach myself to sew without instructions?—MISS A. L.

Q. Of course, but it's more difficult than if you have a professional to guide you at the start. I suggest that you take a few lessons.

done this, no line of defense could have beaten him.

The principle involved is a familiar one. When declarer sees that following a certain course of play is dangerous if one opponent has a particular card, he must look elsewhere for a different line of play that is less dangerous.

Discarding a heart on the queen of clubs in effect substitutes a later and safer heart ruff in dummy for an immediate and dangerous club ruff in dummy.

Declarer reasons that he is practically sure to make the contract by playing safe. Two heart ruffs in dummy, or one heart ruff and a discard on the ace of diamonds are bound to bring him to ten tricks.

There is no good reason for South to jeopardize the contract by ruffing the queen of clubs in the hope that East cannot overruff. The hope might mature, it is true, but the play involves an unnecessary risk.

South dealer.

Opening lead — king of clubs.

A vital principle of play is involved in this hand where South was in four spades and wound up going down one.

West led the king of clubs and South took it with the ace, cashed the king of diamonds, and returned the nine of clubs. West won with the ten and continued with the queen. East having shown a doubleton by playing the 7-5 in that order.

Declarer ruffed with the seven, but East overruffed with the nine and returned a heart to defeat the contract one trick. If West had had the nine of spades instead of East, South would have made the contract, and to this extent declarer was unlucky.

But South should have made the contract anyhow. He should have realized that there was a substantial danger of East's having the nine of spades, and should have taken steps to overcome that possibility.

Instead of ruffing the queen of clubs at trick four, he should have discarded a heart from dummy. Had he

Take The Hint, Let Him Alone
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am in the eighth grade and I like a boy in my home room. I called him up last night and told him that a girl friend of mine wanted his picture, but she was too bashful to ask him for it, so I was asking for her. He said he was sorry but he didn't have any more. Then I called him back and told him that the picture really wasn't for a girl friend, it was for me, and maybe he could dig one up. He said he didn't have any more and he wouldn't know where to dig one up from. Then I called him back again to ask him what page our history assignment started on, but this time his mother answered the phone and told me to quit bothering him. I feel terrible. Should I call him up and apologize for bothering him? FEELS TERRIBLE

DEAR FEELS: No! This boy has your number. Forget his!

DEAR ABBY: I am not mentioning any names and, if you print this, please don't use mine, but what do you think of a husband who is not man enough to speak his own mind? He and his wife have worked out "signals" between them. When they are at a party and HE wants to go home, he either mops his brow with a handkerchief or crosses his legs, and then SHE suggests that it is late and they should be heading for home.

"ON TO THEM"
DEAR "ON": I think they're wonderful. I didn't know teamwork like that still existed.

DEAR ABBY: My problem is my daughter. She is 29 so I can't tell her what to do, but she is still my daughter and I worry about her. Abby, she is five feet five, and I will be the first to admit that she was overweight, but she is big-boned, like I am, and she never looked as heavy as she was. She weighed 255 last July. That's when she started going to this doctor who specializes in reducing people. She lost 90 pounds and she's still dieting. I have begged her to stop before she kills herself, but she doesn't listen to me. Abby, please, as one mother to another, help me save my daughter.

TEARS IN MY EYES
DEAR TEARS: Unless my subtraction is wrong, your daughter still weighs 195 pounds! She has to lose another 60 before she's in the proper weight range for her height. Trust the doctor, and don't demoralize your daughter. Calories are tough enough to battle without the additional burden of an hysterical mother.

BRIDES

There is news this morning of April brides-elect, who are being honored at numerous courtesies these early spring days—and who are revealing plans for their rapidly approaching weddings.

A bride-to-be whose wedding will be an event of Saturday, April 18, is Miss Mary O'Brien, who has announced that her marriage to A. 1c Carl Meyers Portie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Neal Portie of Beaumont, Tex., will be solemnized at a morning service at Blessed Sacrament Church.

Miss O'Brien has chosen Miss Louise DeCamillas of Denver, as her maid of honor for the 10 o'clock wedding, and her bridesmaid will be Miss Bonnie Pounds, also of Denver.

A 2c Douglas Rolx of the Lincoln Air Force Base will serve as best man, and Mr. Portie's cousin, Martin Herbert, Jr., of Beaumont, Tex., will be the groomsmen.

The bride-elect, who is a former student at St. Regis College in Denver, will be honored on Thursday, April 16, at a trousseau tea for which Mrs. W. D. Messenger will be hostess at her home. The guest list will include feminine members of the family, bridal party and family friends.

On Tuesday evening, March 17, Miss Jan Dahlgren and Miss Sharon Wells honored Miss O'Brien at a party held at the home of Miss Dahlgren. Twenty-four guests were invited for an informal evening and presented a "bake 'n' spice" shower to the honoree.

Revealing plans this morning for her approaching wedding is Miss Colleen Higgins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald E. Higgins, who has chosen Saturday, April 4, as the date for her marriage to Jerry Schidler.

For the ceremony, which will be solemnized at 7 o'clock in the evening at First-Plymouth Church, the bride-to-be has named Mrs. Daryl Schoenfeld as her maid of honor. Her maid of honor will be Miss Linda Alles, and the bridesmaid will be Miss Karla Schilder. Miss Holly Ann Higgins will be the junior bridesmaid, and Miss Lisa Jane Anderson of Burwell will be the flower girl.

Jerry Perry will serve Mr. Schidler as best man, and seating the guests will be Larry Stephens and Daryl Schoenfeld.

Miss Higgins's fiancé is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl R. Schidler.

The wedding of Miss Kathleen Sughrue and Robert L. Neugebauer will be an event of Saturday, April 4, and the service will be solemnized at St. Joseph's Church in York.

The soon-to-be bride, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Sughrue of York, has announced the members of her bridal party for the 10 o'clock morning service. Her maid of honor will be her sister, Miss Patricia Sughrue of York, and the bridesmaid will be Miss Dixie Merrill. Mrs. Walter Clymer will be the bridesmatron.

Miss Cathy Cook of Knoxville, Iowa, and Miss Kathleen Rathje of Gresham will be the flower girls, and carrying the rings will be Michael and Kenneth Clymer.

Andrew Steyer will serve as best man, and the ushers will be Robert Baer and Walter Clymer.

Miss Sughrue was the guest of honor on Sunday, March 15, when Mrs. Clarence Merrill and her daughters, Miss Dixie Merrill and Miss Linda Merrill, entertained at their home. During the party, a miscellaneous shower was presented to the bride-elect.

Chapel Wedding

The wedding of Miss Marlene Kay Voorhies, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Voorhies of Elgin, and Lt. Robert W. Cameron, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Cameron of Eagle Grove, Iowa, took place on Sunday afternoon, March 22, at the Lincoln Air Force Base Chapel. The service was solemnized at 4 o'clock by Chaplain George L. Kendall, and Richard Morris, organist, played the wedding music.

Miss Margaret Shoemaker of Elgin, was the maid of honor, and the bridesmaids were Mrs. Fred Wilke, Omaha, Mrs. Homer Lomas and Mrs. Phillip Beck. Serving Lt. Cameron as best man was Lt. John Rusech of the Lincoln Air Force Base.

For her wedding, the bride chose delustered satin in traditional white. The sculptured bodice was designed with long sleeves and a portrait neckline, highlighted with appliques of jeweled lace, and below the elongated waist, the skirt was draped into side and back fullness and continued into a cotillion train. A jeweled tiara held her waist-length veil of illusion.

Holding office for the coming year will be Mrs. Leo Johnson, president; Mrs. Ronald McKelvey, first vice president; Mrs. Ronald Jostes, second vice president; Mrs. Terry Arnold, recording secretary; Miss Lynne Zieler, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Robert Garrett, treasurer; and Mrs. Willis Hecht, director.

House OKs $5.2-Billion Space Authorization Bill

Washington (AP) — With only token opposition and a desultory debate, the House passed Wednesday the $5.2-billion space authorization bill. The vote was 283 to 73.

By wide margins, two amendments were defeated. One would have knocked out a $10-million construction fund for a new electronics research center near Boston. This project, to cost $50 million eventually, has been controversial for two years. Congressmen who wanted the center in their own areas fought it to the last ditch, but were defeated 116 to 86 on a standing vote.

The other amendment would have eliminated $24.7 million for research on a supersonic commercial jet aircraft, to fly up to 2,000 miles per hour. The amendment's sponsor, Rep. Henry Reuss, D-Wis., argued that the plane is not worth its eventual $1-billion cost. It went down by a 109-28 vote.

Request For U.S. Aid For Beatrice Home Set

Institutions Director George Morris Wednesday readied an application for $210,000 in federal funds to help underwrite the cost of the proposed $1.2 million medical and research building at the Beatrice State Home.

Morris said he will submit the application if and when the federal government approves a pending program to aid construction of mental retardation facilities. Current indications are it would be channeled through the federal Hill-Burton hospital construction program.

Under the Hill-Burton program, states receive 40% backing in financial aid for each project. A special mental retardation facilities category would be created.

The program would be administered through the federal Department of Health, Education and Welfare. It would be in addition to other federal monies now allotted the State Institutions Department.

Morris said completion of the Beatrice facility would allow furthering investigative work to uncover medical causes of mental retardation, and to develop more effective metabolic, biochemical and psychiatric therapy.

The 1963 Legislature appropriated funds to start construction of the project. Thus, Morris said Nebraska has a plan all set to present to the federal government.

Pen Escapee Is Recaptured Here

Police early Wednesday morning arrested a 29-year-old escapee from a Nebraska Penitentiary work detail some 24 hours after his escape.

Police said a tip led them to 1712 No. 29th where Victor Simmons, of Allendale, Ill., was found hiding in a basement.

Officials said he was unarmed and offered no resistance.

Simmons escaped Tuesday morning from a work detail at the Penitentiary dairy where he was a trusty.

He was serving a three-year sentence on conviction of a fraudulent check count from Scotts Bluff County.

Private School Laws Save Citizens' Money

By WILLIAM B. KETTER
United Press International

Nebraska's private school laws are saving citizens about one-half million dollars annually, a State Education Department spokesman said.

Ben T. Meckel, director of private vocational schools, warned, however, that some fly-by-night educational racketeers continue to operate in the state. He said total elimination is virtually impossible because not all other states have similar laws.

Educational racketeers are salesmen who offer a correspondence course that allegedly will in 10 easy lessons at home qualify the trainee in various professions and skilled trades such as engineering, heavy equipment operation, air line stewardess and dental and X-ray technicians.

First Law

Meckel estimated that about one-half million dollars annually was being siphoned out of the state by these "high pressure phonies" before the 1957 Legislature passed the first private school law. He said Nebraska's geographic location, at the crossroads of the nation, resulted in just about every kind of fraudulent private vocational education program being offered.

But he said this is no longer the case. "Most of them stay clear of Nebraska because they are aware of our laws," he said.

If other states would follow Nebraska's example, Meckel said, "we could stamp out these unprincipled operators once and for all." He said the only way to cope with "these professional con-men" is through specific legislation.

Meckel said Nebraska's laws are highly regarded by federal education officials and are often pointed to as an example of how to solve a national problem on a state level.

Flood Of Complaints

In 1957 the State Legislature, fed up with the flood of complaints about educational racketeers, enacted a law requiring the licensing and bonding of all educational salesmen who represent privately owned correspondence, business and trade schools.

This was the first step.

Subsequent legislatures tightened the law and added a few more rigid regulations, including one forcing all domestic private vocational schools to post a $5,000 bond before being authorized to operate.

Non-resident salesmen must post a $1,000 bond.

Meckel said the bonding regulation is a tremendous deterrent to unscrupulous salesmen who peddle education without regard for their students.

Meckel said his department is now reviewing the laws with a view toward upgrading and further tightening them. He said the status quo should never prevail in an area like this "because the hit and run operators will find a way to beat you."

'Just A Few Discrepancies' Found In Baker Tax Sheets

Washington (AP)—The Bobby Baker hearings apparently ended Wednesday night with testimony by a government auditor that examination of the former Senate aide's 1958-62 federal income tax returns had turned up only "a few discrepancies."

The Senate Rules Committee's special counsel, L. P. McLendon, described these discrepancies as "unsubstantial errors—small and insignificant."

DADDY'S DOG BIT HER

Mrs. Percy Foreman, wife of Houston attorney Percy Foreman, comforts daughter, Marguerite, who was chewed about the legs and lower part of her body Tuesday night by one of her father's watchdogs. The dog, one of four trained to attack anyone climbing the Foreman fence, set on the girl when she climbed the fence, although it had always been friendly to the child.

Head Of Mass. Police Indicted On 38 Counts

Salem, Mass. (AP)—Frank S. Giles, who as commissioner of public safety is head of the Massachusetts State Police, was indicted Wednesday on charges of conspiracy, larceny, aiding and abetting in making false reports, and conflict of interest.

There were 12 indictments in 38 counts returned against Giles. Four other individuals and two corporations also were indicted.

Acting on evidence gathered by the Massachusetts Crime Commission, the Essex County Grand Jury also indicted Charles A. Mahoney of Haverhill, Michael Beschara of Methuen, C. Joseph Stramondo of Lawrence, who is administrative assistant to Giles; and Kenneth Brennan of Newton.

The two firms indicted are the Nessex Engineering Corp. and Stuart Engineering Service, Inc., both of Methuen.

Giles, 48, is a Methuen resident. He is a former member of the Massachusetts house of representatives where he served as Republican floor leader before he was appointed public safety commissioner by Republican former Gov. John A. Volpe in 1961.

Atty. Gen. Edward A. Brooke said the violations charged against Giles were for the years 1958 through 1962. All were concerned with state contracts, said the attorney general who also is a Republican.

The attorney general said the indicted men and firms probably will be arraigned next week. Earlier he had said there probably would be no arraignments Thursday or Friday, Holy Thursday and Good Friday.

Brooke told newsmen the contracts involved several state agencies, including the Public Works Department, the Massachusetts Port Authority and the Massachusetts Turnpike Authority.

The grand jury, made up of 14 men and 5 women, heard some 25 witnesses in 10 days and studied contents of at least a dozen cartons which were brought into the jury room daily.

Several weeks ago the Commonwealth won convictions of executive councilor Ernest C. Stasium, D-Fairhaven, and two other men on bribery and conspiracy charges.

A bribery indictment is pending against another councilor, Joseph R. Crimmins, D-Somerville.

"We don't know where the $40,000 came from, but he paid income tax on it," Chairman B. Everett Jordan, D-N.C., said. Baker himself has refused to answer the committee's questions.

At the hearing Milton L. Hauff, an accountant, renewed his charge that someone had signed his name to Baker's 1961 income tax return and also to the 1961 return filed by the Carousel Motel, in which Baker had a half interest.

Hauff said he didn't know what else to call it but "forgery although he testified that no attempt has been made to imitate his signature."

Quiet End

The hearing ended quietly, with Jordan announcing it was recessed subject to his call. However, both he and McLendon said no more hearings are scheduled.

The unexplained $40,000 was referred to by both Hauff, now a management analyst for the Labor Department, and Edward Hugler, a Government Accounting Office auditor on loan to the committee.

McLendon said there had been "reports and rumors" that the $40,000 might have been a gift or a fee from the late Sen. Robert S. Kerr, D-Okla., and asked Hugler if he and other investigators had been able to identify the source of the money.

"No, we have not," Hugler replied.

Hauff, who helped Baker prepare his 1961 and 1962 tax returns, said the former Senate aide had told him the $40,000 represented a fee but had not explained it further.

Corroboration

Hugler corroborated Hauff's testimony that the 1961 return filed by Baker differed from the one Hauff had prepared only in that Baker had taken an additional deduction of $51.35 for sales tax payments.

The government auditor also agreed with Hauff that Baker was entitled to this deduction, as well as a $27,000 deduction he took because of storm damage to the Carousel Motel in Ocean City, Md.

Thus, the testimony was that even though someone had signed Hauff's name to the return, it was correct insofar as the tax liability was concerned.

Sunday Law Ruled Illegal By Scheele

Lancaster District Judge Elmer Scheele Wednesday ruled the Sunday closing law passed by the 1963 Legislature unconstitutional.

Judge Scheele said the law, LB710, is "unreasonably discriminatory and creates unreasonable and arbitrary classifications between businesses, between commodities and between persons engaged in and employed by such businesses."

The ruling was made in cases brought by Skag-Way Inc. and the Four-Star Drug challenging the constitutionality of the law.

Judge Scheele ruled that the law, which prohibits the sale of certain commodities on Sunday, violates both the state and federal constitutional provision that forbids legislation which abridges the priv-

Inmate Found Guilty In Sale Of Narcotics

Milton Howard, a 46-year-old Nebraska Penal Complex inmate serving a life sentence for murder, was found guilty on two counts of selling narcotics.

A U.S. District Court jury found the former Omahan guilty in a two-day trial. Sentencing was deferred until April 10 by Judge Robert Van Fell.

Howard was charged with selling two tablets of an opium derivative for $6 to Edward Ellis in Omaha on Nov. 19, 1959.

Lee W. Cox, who was a federal narcotics agent then, testified he saw the exchange between Howard and Ellis at 2932 No. 24th in Omaha.

Howard was sentenced to life on July 15, 1960, after being found guilty by a Douglas County jury on a first-degree murder charge in Ellis' death.

Two other men are also serving life in connection with the Ellis case.

Judge Scheele's order permanently enjoining enforcement of the law is applicable only in the county, and is similar to a decision made in Scotts Bluff County in a suit brought by State Sen. Terry Carpenter.

The Scotts Bluff County case is now before the State Supreme Court.

NWU Stresses Role Of Dorms At Tax Hearing

Nebraska Wesleyan University officials Wednesday emphasized that dormitories are an important aspect of an educational institution at a tax-exemption hearing before the Lancaster County Board of Equalization.

Assessor Arthur Davis had recommended that both Wesleyan and Union College dormitories be placed on the tax rolls.

University of Nebraska dorms are exempt because they are state property.

The Wesleyan representatives pointed out that it is part of a college's responsibility to be able to answer to parents as to where students are living and the hours they keep.

President Vance Rogers noted that supervised housing is important for the success of the institution.

Part of Learning Process

The NWU group noted that part of the educational process is learning to get along with others and living with

DR. SIDNEY HOOK

'Extremes' In Religious Issue Hit

A New York University philosopher Wednesday deplored the extremes which have developed in the interpretation of the place of religion in American society and education.

Dr. Sidney Hook, chairman of the department of philosophy at New York University, spoke at the University of Nebraska in the second of two Montgomery lectures.

"There is no warrant for asserting that intolerant religion of secularism manifested itself in the court decisions or in recent tendencies which close the doors of the school to heavily weighted rituals," he said.

Belong In Church

"Such rituals, in centers of mixed religious population, belong more properly in a church than classroom or assembly."

"On the other hand, to see in the reading of a few verses from the Bible or even in the recitation of the Lord's prayer, a serious breach in the wall of separation between church and state as a move towards establishment of a national religion or church, is to be deficient in either a sense of humor or a sense of proportion or both."

Dr. Hook defended the gradual elimination of religious practices from political and educational life.

He said it was preferable that this be done by negotiation between religious and non-religious groups in the community rather than by court decree except in clear cases of religious oppression and persecution.

Divisive

"It would have been preferable if the court had not taken the Bible reading cases for decision," Dr. Hook said.

He speculated that the court decisions would strengthen the growth of parochial schools. He acknowledged that parochial schools are constitutionally valid but maintained they are democratically and educationally unwise because of their "divisiveness."

Tornado Destroys 2 Missouri Schools

Centerville, Mo. (AP)—A tornado destroyed two small schools Wednesday, injuring 13 students and a teacher at one as it slashed through three southeast Missouri counties. No deaths were reported.

The twister, which touched down first in this Reynolds County seat, moved on to neighboring Wayne County where it hit the school in Clay Clubb. Two of the children injured were reported in serious but not critical condition. Teacher Will Meador and the other 11 students were not believed badly hurt. All were taken to hospitals in Poplar Bluff and Fredericktown, Mo., in the area.

24 Escaped
Twenty-four children in another schoolhouse, at Garwood, also in Reynolds County, escaped injury although the school was blown down around them.

"We were told the teacher, Dewey Millon, herded them into a corner of the school and possibly saved them," said Sgt. H. P. Bruner of the Missouri Highway Patrol.

The twister caused considerable property damage but no reported injuries when it hit Centerville.

Skipped
Then it skipped southeast to Silva in Wayne County where at least three buildings were toppled. No injuries were reported at Silva.

Sgt. Lloyd Murphy of the highway patrol at Poplar Bluff said the tornado damaged a farm house near that city and flattened a barn, killing several head of cattle. He said there were half a dozen other reports of rural residents suffering injuries of varying degrees but no reports of fatalities.

"That's a thinly-populated area," the sergeant said, "or we've have had lots more injured."

200 Yards Wide
He said a Missouri forester in a fire tower reported the tornado left a path of destruction about 200 yards wide. "That's a pretty wide one," the sergeant said. "We'll probably be getting reports of injuries for a day or two as communications are down in much of the area."

the Sermon on the Mount comes to you more meaningful and important than ever

SEEN the crowds, he went up on the mountain, and when he sat down his disciples came to him. And he opened his mouth and taught them, saying:

"Blessed are the poor in spirit, for theirs is the kingdom of heaven.

"Blessed are those who mourn, for they shall be comforted.

"Blessed are the meek, for they shall inherit the earth.

"Blessed are those who hunger and thirst for righteousness, for they shall be satisfied.

"Blessed are the merciful, for they shall obtain mercy.

"Blessed are the pure in heart, for they shall see God.

"Blessed are the peacemakers, for they shall be called sons of God.

"Blessed are those who are persecuted for righteousness' sake, for theirs is the kingdom of heaven.

"Blessed are you when men revile you and persecute you and utter all kinds of evil against you falsely on my account. Rejoice and be glad, for your reward is great in heaven, for so men persecuted the prophets who were before you.

"You are the salt of the earth; but if salt has lost its taste, how can its saltiness be restored? It is no longer good for anything except to be thrown out and trodden under foot by men.

"You are the light of the world. A city set on a hill cannot be hid. Nor do men light a lamp and put it under a bushel, but on a stand, and it gives light to all in the house. Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works and give glory to your Father who is in heaven.

"Think not that I have come to abolish the law and the prophets; I have come not to abolish them but to fulfill them. For truly, I say to you, till heaven and earth pass away, not an iota, not a dot, will pass from the law until all is accomplished. Whoever then relaxes one of the least of these commandments and teaches men so, shall be called least in the kingdom of heaven; but he who does them and teaches them shall be called great in the kingdom of heaven. For I tell you, unless your righteousness exceeds that of the scribes and Pharisees, you will never enter the kingdom of heaven.

"You have heard that it was said to the men of old, 'You shall not kill; and whoever kills shall be liable to judgment.' But I say to you that every one who is angry with his brother shall be liable to judgment; whoever insults his brother shall be liable to the council, and whoever says, 'You fool!' shall be liable to the hell of fire. So if you are offering your gift at the altar, and there remember that your brother has something against you, leave your gift there before the altar and go; first be reconciled to your brother, and then come and offer your gift. Make friends quickly with your accuser, while you are going with him to court, lest your accuser hand you over to the judge, and the judge to the guard, and you be put in prison; truly, I say to you, you will never get out till you have paid the last penny.

"You have heard that it was said, 'You shall not commit adultery.' But I say to you that every one who looks at a woman lustfully has already committed adultery with her in his heart. If your right eye causes you to sin, pluck it out and throw it away; it is better that you lose one of your members than that your whole body be thrown into hell. And if your right hand causes you to sin, cut it off and throw it away; it is better that you lose one of your members than that your whole body go into hell.

"It was also said, 'Whoever divorces his wife, let him give her a certificate of divorce.' But I say to you that every one who divorces his wife, except on the ground of unchastity, makes her an adulteress; and whoever marries a divorced woman commits adultery.

"Again you have heard that it was said to the men of old, 'You shall not swear falsely, but shall perform to the Lord what you have sworn.' But I say to you, Do not swear at all, either by heaven, for it is the throne of God, or by the earth, for it is his footstool, or by Jerusalem, for it is the city of the great King. And do not swear by your head, for you cannot make one hair white or black. Let what you say be simply 'Yes' or 'No'; anything more than this comes from evil.

"You have heard that it was said, 'An eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth.' But I say to you, Do not resist one who is evil. But if any one strikes you on the right cheek, turn to him the other also; and if any one would sue you and take your coat, let him have your cloak as well; and if any one forces you to go one mile, go with him two miles. Give to him who begs from you, and do not refuse him who would borrow from you.

"You have heard that it was said, 'You shall love your neighbor and hate your enemy.' But I say to you, Love your enemies and pray for those who persecute you, so that you may be sons of your Father who is in heaven; for he makes his sun rise on the evil and on the good, and sends rain on the just and on the unjust. For if you love those who love you, what reward have you? Do not even the tax collectors do the same? And if you salute only your brethren, what more are you doing than others? Do not even the Gentiles do the same? You, therefore, must be perfect, as your heavenly Father is perfect.

"BEWARE of practicing your piety before men in order to be seen by them; for then you will have no reward from your Father who is in heaven.

"Thus, when you give alms, sound no trumpet before you, as the hypocrites do in the synagogues and in the streets, that they may be praised by men. Truly, I say to you they have their reward. But when you give alms, do not let your left hand know what your right hand is doing, so that your alms may be in secret; and your Father who sees in secret will reward you.

"And when you pray, you must not be like the hypocrites; for they love to stand and pray in the synagogues and at the street corners, that they may be seen by men. Truly, I say to you, they have their reward. But when you pray, go into your room and shut the door and pray to your Father who is in secret; and your Father who sees in secret will reward you.

"And in praying do not heap up empty phrases as the Gentiles do; for they think that they will be heard for their many words. Do not be like them, for your Father knows what you need before you ask him. Pray then like this:

'Our Father who art in heaven,

Hallowed be thy name.

Thy kingdom come,

Thy will be done,

On earth as it is in heaven.

Give us this day our daily bread;

And forgive us our debts,

As we also have forgiven our debtors;

And lead us not into temptation,

But deliver us from evil.'

For if you forgive men their trespasses, your heavenly Father also will forgive you; but if you do not forgive men their trespasses, neither will your Father forgive your trespasses.

"And when you fast, do not look dismal, like the hypocrites, for they disfigure their faces that their fasting may be seen by men. Truly, I say to you, they have their reward. But when you fast, anoint your head and wash your face, that your fasting may not be seen by men but by your Father who is in secret; and your Father who sees in secret will reward you.

"Do not lay up for yourselves treasures on earth, where moth and rust consume and where thieves break in and steal, but lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven, where neither moth nor rust consumes and where thieves do not break in and steal; for where your treasure is, there will your heart be also.

"The eye is the lamp of the body. So, if your eye is sound, your whole body will be full of light; but if your eye is not sound, your whole body will be full of darkness. If then the light in you is darkness, how great is the darkness!

"No one can serve two masters; for either he will hate the one and love the other, or he will be devoted to the one and despise the other. You cannot serve God and mammon.

"Therefore I tell you, do not be anxious about your life, what you shall eat or what you shall drink, nor about your body, what you shall put on. Is not life more than food, and the body more than clothing? Look at the birds of the air; they neither sow nor reap nor gather into barns, and yet your heavenly Father feeds them. Are you not of more value than they? And which of you by being anxious can add one cubit to his span of life? And why be anxious about clothing? Consider the lilies of the field, how they grow; they neither toil nor spin; yet I tell you, even Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these. But if God so clothes the grass of the field, which today is alive and tomorrow is thrown into the oven, will he not much more clothe you, O men of little faith? Therefore do not be anxious, saying, 'What shall we eat?' or 'What shall we drink?' or 'What shall we wear?' For the Gentiles seek all these things; and your heavenly Father knows that you need them all. But seek first his kingdom and his righteousness, and all these things shall be yours as well.

"Therefore do not be anxious about tomorrow, for tomorrow will be anxious for itself. Let the day's own trouble be sufficient for the day.

"JUDGE not, that you be not judged. For with the judgment you pronounce you will be judged, and the measure you give will be the measure you get. Why do you see the speck that is in your brother's eye, but do not notice the log that is in your own eye? Or how can you say to your brother, 'Let me take the speck out of your eye,' when there is the log in your own eye? You hypocrite, first take the log out of your own eye, and then you will see clearly to take the speck out of your brother's eye.

"Do not give dogs what is holy; and do not throw your pearls before swine, lest they trample them underfoot and turn to attack you.

"Ask, and it will be given you; seek, and you will find; knock, and it will be opened to you. For every one who asks receives, and he who seeks finds, and to him who knocks it will be opened. Or what man of you, if his son asks him for a loaf, will give him a stone? Or if he asks for a fish, will give him a serpent?

If you then, who are evil, know how to give good gifts to your children, how much more will your Father who is in heaven give good things to those who ask him? So whatever you wish that men would do to you, do so to them; for this is the law and the prophets.

"Enter by the narrow gate; for the gate is wide and the way is easy, that leads to destruction, and those who enter by it are many. For the gate is narrow and the way is hard that leads to life, and those who find it are few.

"Beware of false prophets, who come to you in sheep's clothing but inwardly are ravenous wolves. You will know them by their fruits. Are grapes gathered from thorns, or figs from thistles? So, every sound tree bears good fruit, but the bad tree bears evil fruit. A sound tree cannot bear evil fruit, nor can a bad tree bear good fruit. Every tree that does not bear good fruit is cut down and thrown into the fire. Thus you will know them by their fruits.

"Not every one who says to me, 'Lord, Lord,' shall enter the kingdom of heaven, but he who does the will of my Father who is in heaven. On that day many will say to me, 'Lord, Lord, did we not prophesy in your name, and cast out demons in your name, and do many mighty works in your name? And then will I declare to them, 'I never knew you; depart from me, you evil-doers.'

"Every one then who hears these words of mine and does them will be like a wise man who built his house upon the rock; and the rain fell, and the floods came, and the winds blew and beat upon that house, but it did not fall, because it had been founded on the rock. And every one who hears these words of mine and does not do them will be like a foolish man who built his house upon the sand; and the rain fell, and the floods came, and the winds blew and beat against that house, and it fell; and great was the fall of it."

And when Jesus finished these sayings, the crowds were astonished at his teaching, for he taught them as one who had authority, and not as their scribes.

This special newspaper page is the project of a group of people who believe that the Sermon on the Mount is a message of profound importance to everyone, everywhere, today. That conviction is supported thruout the world by men and women of very different faiths and backgrounds, distinguished in science and industry, politics, education, and every walk of life.

Certainly day after day this great sermon should be explored and applied — for humility and mature charity, alertness to false prophets, and the power of example. We believe it can thereby lead to solution of the most serious human problems, and offers great power for healing among the nations.

Chicago (A)—Four gunmen, one an Alcatraz prison alumnus, raced out of a supermarket Wednesday into a barrage of police bullets. Three were slain, one escaped.

The police had set up an ambush for the men on the West Side on the strength of a wave of holdups of National Tea Co. food stores in the Chicago area in recent weeks. The gang pulled off the holdup without incidents, then fell into the police trap as they rushed for their getaway. $6 Thousand Six thousand dollars was taken in the robbery minutes after an armored express truck had made a delivery. The getaway car was parked in a vacant lot a block from the store. It contained two pistols and a bag of popcorn. In a running gunfight one of the robbers was cut down in an alley behind the supermarket. Two others were slain farther away and a fourth man escaped.

The gun fight took place in the neighborhood of the supermarket at 4720 S. Cicero Ave. Dangerous
Branding the fugitive as an "extremely dangerous" gunman, police put into effect an emergency plan employing 25 squad cars for a house-to-house search of the neighborhood. Nine detectives of the criminal intelligence unit set up the ambush in the store area earlier in the day in the belief that a gang which had preyed on other National stores might strike. Police identified the slain men as Michael Parille, Neil McCauley and Russell Bredon. Served Time McCauley, they said, had served sentences in federal and state prisons for armed robberies, the first conviction in 1934. In 1962 he was released from Alcatraz penitentiary after serving nine years for robbing savings and loan association offices. Parille was under indictment with a man and woman for an armed holdup of a Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. office on the West Side Jan. 28. Six employees were in the supermarket when the robbers walked in, brandished weapons and ordered two women cashiers, Elizabeth Veronis and Helen Ballaur, to hand over the money. The women complied. As the men hurried from the store two taxicabs containing police officers, which had been parked behind a gasoline station, suddenly pulled up. The guns started blazing.

Three At NU Achieve Perfect Average

Although 9,000 undergraduate students were trying to do it, only three University of Nebraska students were able to obtain a perfect grade average (9.000) for 12 hours of more last semester.

They were:

—Michael Lee White of Lincoln, a senior who is majoring in chemical engineering. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack White of Beatrice.

—Catherine Jean Origer of Lincoln, a junior who is majoring in pharmacy. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Origer.

—Michael C. Miller of Omaha, a sophomore in Teachers College. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace E. M. Miller.

Rounding out the top 15 scholars last semester, all earning grades between 8.765 and 8.929 were:

—Fred J. Leistriz of Lake-side, a freshman majoring in agricultural economics, son of Mr. and Mrs. K. E. Leistriz.

—Joann Strateman of Lincoln, a junior majoring in German and French, daughter of Mrs. Alice B. Strateman.

—Linda Lou Larson of Lincoln, a senior majoring in psychology, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Larson.

—Judith Johnson Woodward of Valley, a February graduate with "high distinction" in education, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert L. Johnson.

—Leroy E. Baker of Omaha, a senior majoring in civil engineering, son of Mr. Earl E. Baker.

—Joan E. Jones of Lincoln, a junior majoring in English, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph V. Morton, Sacramento, Calif.

—Dennis Wallway of Emerson, a junior majoring in chemistry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Wallway.

—Carol Lee Van Steenberg of Scottsbluff, a sophomore majoring in anthropology, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Van Steenberg.

Johnson Will Sign $3 Million Bonds For Omaha

By WILLIAM B. KETTER
United Press International
Veteran State Auditor Ray C. Johnson will leave this weekend for Chicago to sign $3 million worth of negotiable bonds for the city of Omaha.

It won't be the first time he has signed bonds in excess of $1 million. And to be sure, he won't be a stranger to officials of the American Bank-note Co. of Chicago.

"I have a long history of signing bonds in both Chicago and New York," Johnson recalled in an interview. "Most officials of the signature firms know me on a personal basis."

Johnson explained that his Chicago assignment this time involves various-purpose bonds for 1964 issued by the city of Omaha. He said the bonds were purchased by the Harris Trust Co. of Chicago.

"When an investment company outside the state purchases bonds from Nebraska," Johnson said, "they usually forego the risk of shipping those bonds to Nebraska, since they're negotiable upon my signature." He added that it's also more costly to ship the bonds to Nebraska because of necessary security measures.

Johnson, who has been elected auditor 13 consecutive times, estimated he has probably traveled to Chicago and

New York an average of twice yearly during the last 28 years to sign multi-million dollar bonds.

He said the state does not underwrite the cost of his expenses. The bill is footed by the investment firm purchasing the bonds.

"It probably would cost them about $1,000 or more to ship the bonds to Nebraska for my signature," Johnson said. "They feel it's cheaper to send me to the bonds."

Unicam's Sessions Too Long—Thone

Charles Thone said that regular sessions of the Nebraska Legislature are running much too long and that as lieutenant governor, he could and would do something to shorten them.

The Lincoln attorney is a candidate for the Republican nomination for lieutenant governor.

Presiding over the Legislature is a function of the Nebraska lieutenant governor.

Thone said legislative sessions could measurably be shortened by close enforcement of the Unicameral's own rules of procedure.

"Some legislative bodies, notably the U.S. Senate, have less stringent rules," he noted in a statement. "But it is within the power of the Unicameral's presiding officer to keep all discussion pertinent to the subject up for debate by ruling on points of order, and by close adherence to the time limit for each speaker."

The largest amount ever signed by Johnson was $42 million for the Omaha Public Power District. He said it took him two days in a signature firm on New York's Wall Street to complete the task.

Other top bond transactions involving Johnson were formation of Consumers Public Power District, Loup Public Power District and Platte Public Power and Irrigation District. Last year, he signed

$25 million worth of bonds for the Omaha School Board. "Anything up to $1 million or less is usually sold to Nebraska investors and signed in the state," he said. "From $1 million to $5 million they land in Chicago, and above that on Wall Street."

Johnson said signature machines that utilize 18 separate pens allow him to sign his name simultaneously 18 times. He said he has a good speed record.

"But then I have an advantage over most," Johnson mused. "I can sign my name without lifting the master pen since I don't have any t's to cross."

Wilber Likely To Buy More Power, Mayor Tells Hearing

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Mayor Walter Baer of Wilber told the Nebraska Power Review Board Wednesday that his community will "eventually purchase more and more power" as its electric load grows and its municipal power plant becomes older.

"I don't think the small communities can afford the indebtedness for additional generating capacity," Baer declared.

The mayor's testimony opened a hearing on a Consumers Public Power District application to construct a transmission line to serve Wilber with off-peak evening power and provide a source for emergency firm power.

Norris Public Power District is also seeking to serve Wilber as part of a $1.3 million construction program which it will present to the board April 23.

Continued

The hearing on CPPD's application was continued until after testimony is taken on the Norris request.

Mayor Baer's opening statements made it clear that more is at stake in the long run than merely supplying Wilber with evening power and emergency back-up service.

Wilber owns its electric generation and distribution system. Baer said, but "two of its three motors are 15 years old. The other is seven years old."

Wilber has suffered two recent break-downs in its generation equipment, the mayor said. The city has "no connections with other lines," raising the possibility of a power black-out if its own equipment fails, he pointed out.

Thus, the city requested both Consumers and Norris for emergency firm power proposals, Baer said.

Both districts offered to serve the off-peak load from 10 p.m. to 8 a.m., allowing Wilber to "save one-third fuel, one-third wear and tear on its own plant and one-third labor," the mayor said.

"Either agreement is satisfactory," he declared.

CPD Chief Engineer Donald Schaefelberger of Lincoln told the board that the Consumers proposal provides for "re-energizing" .65 mile of transmission line to 34.5 kilovolts and the construction of .65 mile of 34.5-KV line into Wilber.

Schaefelberger estimated the total cost of providing service at about $19,000, including $6,500 for the line work, $6,000 for a steel substation and $6,500 for a transformer.

In cross-examination, Norris attorney Joe Vosoba of Wilber suggested that Consumers has already substantially completed the necessary work to re-energize the transmission line "without Power Board approval."

Peru Plan To Explore Own Power Unit OK'd

Peru State College, involved in litigation over where it should obtain its electricity, has been authorized by the State Normal Board to explore the possibility of installing its own power plant.

The authorization came after Dr. Neal Gomon, Peru State president, informed the board the college would prefer to generate its own electricity to being compelled to buy power from the City of Peru.

He said the City of Peru "cannot furnish us with sufficient firm power to meet our present needs and most certainly not our immediate future needs."

The college's contract under which the City of Peru supplies the power expires April 20, 1964. The college had arranged thereafter to obtain power from the City of Auburn but a lawsuit in Lancaster District Court went against Auburn. An appeal to the State Supreme Court is now pending.

Dr. Gomon suggested the installation of two 650 horsepower generators to provide electricity for the college.

Meanwhile, the Supreme Court set April 9 as the hearing date for a request by the State Normal Board and the City of Peru that the power case be advanced on the court's docket.

AMERICA'S GREAT CIGARETTE SCARE APPARENTLY EASING

Thursday, March 26, 1964 The Lincoln Star 31

By United Press International
The great cigarette scare appears to be easing off.
Cigarette sales dropped as much as 30% after the surgeon general's committee threw a history-making scare into the nation's smokers last

Does BLADDER IRRITATION MAKE YOU NERVOUS?

After 31, common kidney or bladder irritations affect twice as many women as men and may make you tense and nervous from too frequent, burning or itching urination both day and night. Secondly, you may lose sleep and suffer from headaches, backache and feel old, tired, depressed. In such irritation, CISTEX usually brings fast, reliable comfort by curbing irritating urines in a simple, safe and by analgesic pain relief. Get CISTEX at drugists. Feel better fast.

Jan. 11 with its report linking cigarettes to cancer.
Sales are still down in much of the nation. But cigarettes are starting to come back, a survey indicated Wednesday.
United Press International checked state tax officials and major wholesalers and retailers throughout the country to determine what had happened to cigarettes in the two and a half months since the surgeon general's bombshell.
Authoritative sources in at least 12 states reported that cigarette sales and tax revenues had fallen off drastically in January and February, but were coming up in March.
In a few big cities, some retailers said their cigarette sales were just like old times.

There were indications in other states that the flight from cigarettes had reached its peak. Tax and business authorities in these states said it would be another month or two before they could tell for sure whether cigarettes would come back—and how much.
There was plenty of talk in the trade about Britain's attempt to kick the smoking habit. Despite a government committee report against nicotine, plus a vigorous anti-smoking advertising campaign, cigarette sales rose to a record $3 billion in Britain last year.

Whether U.S. smokers are getting over their jittery, these side effects of the country's cigarette trauma were seen:
—Cigar makers never had it so good in recent years. Industry estimates of increased sales ran as high as 30%.
—There was a new fad in smoking—tipped—“cigarillo-type” cigars which sell for about a nickel apiece. A Jackson, Miss., wholesaler said cigarillo sales “went out of sight and are still going. Some factories still haven't caught up with their supplies.” A spokesman for Detroit's DWG Cigar Corp. said, “We can't make enough to keep up with back orders.”

—Prominent among the cigarillo fans were women who would have scorned a single three months ago. Manufacturers tried to make their products as dainty as possible and the Cigar Institute of America estimated that 60,000 American women have become cigar puffers.
—Pipe and pipe tobacco dealers joined in welcoming refugees from the cigarette habit. Sam Spears, manager of the Hagman Wholesale Tobacco Co. in Tulsa, Okla., said pipe and tobacco sales were up 50% and, “I can't keep enough—I'll bet I don't have six high quality pipes in the house.”
—Cigarette smoking habits were changing, too. Dealers reported that customers who tried and failed to get off cigarettes were changing to king-size filters.

States where tax receipts showed an upswing in cigarette sales included Louisiana, Minnesota, Mississippi, South Carolina, West Virginia, Indiana, Oklahoma, Connecticut, New Hampshire, Wisconsin, New Jersey and Oregon.
Tax figures showed cigarette sales still suffering in Maine, Delaware, New York State, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Utah, Texas, New Mexico, Nebraska, California, Alabama and Florida.

World's Best Usher, Andy Frain, Dies

Chicago (U)—Andy Frain, who joked that his nationally famous ushering service was inspired by his watching his Irish mother feed her 17 children, died of a heart attack early Wednesday in Rochester, Minn.

Frain, 60, directed an amazingly successful "crowd engineering" business in which his military-precise, blue-uniformed ushers kept order at events ranging from the Kentucky Derby to national political conventions.

Ill of a heart condition for several months, Frain died in Mayo Brothers Clinic almost four years exactly after his wife, Lillian, perished in an airliner crash at Tell City, Ind., March 17, 1960.

Didn't Recover

Close friends said Frain never quite recovered from the shock of losing his wife of 32 years and mother of their six children.

Frain went to Rochester March 18 after supervising his last two big jobs, ushering at the Sonny Liston-Cassius Clay heavyweight title fight Feb. 25 and President Johnson's dinner Feb. 27, both in Miami Beach.

The son of an Irish immigrants, Frain began ushering with 15 men at Wrigley Field in 1924. The venture succeeded only after Frain went broke 10 times, as he said, and was given $5,000 by William Wrigley, then owner of the Chicago Cubs baseball team, to buy uniforms.

ANDY FRAIN

No Colors
Frain selected blue uniforms, trimmed in gold, the colors of his favorite football team, Notre Dame.

In the next 40 years, Frain recruited about 25,000 college and high school lads on ushering jobs which helped them work their way through school.

From the Chicago baseball parks, Frain's service mushroomed so that he recently estimated his ushers seated about 500,000 persons weekly at events including wrestling matches, concerts, auctions, society balls, funerals and plush weddings.

Added Girls

Several years ago, Frain added about 200 girls to his service for ushering at race tracks, trade shows and conventions.

"I hire girls who use soap and water, not a lot of paint and powder," said Frain. "They never have any trouble handling crowds. Who's going to argue with a nice girl?"

Frain's ushers, who wore spotless white gloves, were tutored by a former Army officer to drill them in posture and military bearing. Frain estimated his ushers earned about $1,000 or $1,200 yearly on their parttime jobs.

Biggest Chore

The Kentucky Derby, which his service handled since 1930, was the biggest chore for Frain, who used 300 to 400 men on the job.

Frain's men handled nine national political conventions in Chicago since 1932. During the 1952 Republican convention here, Frain was slugged and his clothes ripped when he refused to let demonstrators into the already jammed convention hall. A fight broke out, but Frain ushers and police dispersed the demonstrators.

Frain also handled World Series crowds at Wrigley Field in 1929, 1932, 1935, 1938 and 1945, and the 1959 World Series at the Chicago White Sox' Comiskey Park.

In 1948 Frain hired 350

Philadelphia area college athletes, none under 6 feet, to handle three national political conventions in Philadelphia—Democrat, Republican and Third Party.

"I'm the only guy in the whole wide world who's in this business," he said. "Everybody else finds it too tough."

The toughest job, he said then, was the Kentucky Derby. In 1933, he recalled, gangs of ruffians rushed the gates and 15 of his blue and gold coated lads ended up in hospitals.

No Muscle

"But we don't use the muscle men," he said. "We persuade a man to leave. The muscle work is up to the police."

Frain, who recounted he once bathed in the family's wash boiler, had a fine suburban home here and a winter home in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., with four bathrooms and a swimming pool.

His six children, Andrew, Dennis, Michael, Peter, Patrick, Francis and Cornelia, all are active in the Frain firm.

The funeral mass Monday at Queen of All Saints Church here will be sung by a former Frain usher, Bishop Cletus O'Donnell of the Chicago Roman Catholic Diocese.

New Defense Chief Wants Tests

Dallas (UPI)—Jack Ruby's new defense chief said Wednesday he wants the condemned slayer to undergo another long series of medical and mental tests. He said if the judge refuses, it would be grounds for a reversal of Ruby's murder conviction.

Dr. Hubert Winston Smith, director of the law science academy at the University of Texas, said the tests would primarily be used for Ruby's next trial. He said he is confident Ruby's conviction will be overturned by appeals courts.

Smith was named Tuesday night as the new chief of defense for Ruby, convicted of murdering accused presidential assassin Lee Harvey Oswald. He is the third chief lawyer for Ruby in less than a week.

Talkative Melvin Belli of San Francisco, who handled Ruby's defense during the trial, was fired less than a week ago for his tirades against Dallas and Dallas justice after the trial. Houston criminal lawyer Percy Foreman was then hired, and resigned four days later because of disagreements with the family and family lawyer. Belli followed Ruby's first lawyer, Tom Howard of Dallas.

Assistant Dist. Atty. A. D. (Jim) Bowie said the prosecution will oppose the further examinations proposed by Smith.

"We know of no such procedure in the law (for tests) after conviction," Bowie said. "Well have to see the defense's motion and authority for such a move."

Smith said the entire law science academy at the university will be asked to aid in Ruby's defense. Through the academy, he said, the defense will have access to the nation's top trial lawyers and medical experts.

He also said he thought the jury that convicted Ruby did not comprehend the medical testimony at the trial, and that as head of the defense, he plans to delve much deeper into the psychomotor epilepsy disorder he believes Ruby suffers.

"What we have to do now," he said, "is to use various new methods to determine if he had this condition." Regardless of whether Ruby does suffer from the rare form of epilepsy, Smith said, "He is a sick man and it is still a matter of a mental problem. There is still a lot of evidence in this case locked up in Ruby's head."

Smith said he took the case without asking a fee. He will be assisted by professor Charles Wright, a colleague at the university, and lawyers Joe H. Tonahill of Jasper, Tex., and Phil Burleson of Dallas.

Historic Acre In Britain Kennedy Memorial Site

LONDON (AP) — Britain announced Wednesday it is giving an acre of its most historic soil—the Magna Carta meadow of Runnymede—to the United States for a memorial to John F. Kennedy.

Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home told the House of Commons the assassinated President will be further honored by a scholarship fund to send British students to Harvard—Kennedy's alma mater—and to Radcliffe College and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

ESTEEMED STATUE SITE

rial proposal came from a committee, headed by Lord Franks, which had studied various possibilities for months.

Meanwhile, the republic of Ireland, home of Kennedy's forebears, announced it will honor him by naming a bridge over the Ilan River in Skibbereen, County Cork, the John Fitzgerald Kennedy Bridge. Skibbereen claims to be the home of the late president's maternal grandmother.

The Irish government also will set up as a state memorial a concert and assembly hall in Dublin built with national treasury funds. There also are plans to name one of Dublin's main thoroughfares, Westmoreland St., for Kennedy.

Wexford, Ireland, where some of Kennedy's other ancestors once lived, invited governments from all over the world to contribute native tree specimens for an arboretum in a Kennedy memorial park.

Galway announced it will place a Kennedy memorial mosaic behind an altar in one of the chapels in its new Roman Catholic cathedral. Also, a tablet will be set up in Eyre Square Park to mark the spot where the president was made a freeman of the city on his visit to Ireland in 1963.

SCHOOL CHIEF WARNS PRINCE EDWARD

Farmville, Va. (AP) — Dr. Nell J. Sullivan warned Prince Edward County officials Wednesday to begin preparing now for the possible reopening of the county's closed public schools this fall.

Prince Edward closed its public schools in 1959 to avoid court-ordered classroom integration. The Justice Department asked the U.S. Supreme Court Tuesday to order the reopening of the public schools on a desegregated basis. The court will hear arguments in the case Monday.

Dr. Sullivan, who heads the Free School Association organized last summer to bring schooling to the county's Negro children, said school officials from throughout the East are making almost daily visits to Farmville to sign up teachers due to leave when the one-year Free School ends in August.

The Free Schools, supported by public contributions from across the nation, are attended by about 1,500 Negro pupils and eight white pupils.

Dr. Sullivan said he hoped county school officials would act soon to avoid having to start a school system from scratch as he did last summer.

If Virginia and Prince Edward officials maintain their wait-and-see attitude, he said, "all children in the county will suffer for lack of qualified teachers."

Sullivan said he has offered to meet with any public or elected organization about making a smooth transition to full-time public education in the fall.

"I wouldn't want any other teachers or superintendents faced with the task of doing all over again what we had to do last fall in starting from scratch," he said.

At JFK's Behest

Sullivan was forced to work right up to the opening day of school last September to put together a faculty and school teaching program aimed at students who had been without schooling for four years. The Free Schools were organized at the insistence of President Kennedy.

Key figure behind the opening of the free schools was William Vanden Heuvel, special assistant to Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy while organizing the project.

Gov. Albertis S. Harrison Jr. has repeatedly said he is certain the county will reopen the public schools this fall. But, he says, they are waiting to see what the courts decide before making plans.

Morrison Backs Gov. Anderson's Import Testimony

Omaha (AP) — Gov. Frank Morrison said Wednesday he sent a telegram of support to Gov. John Anderson of Kansas for his testimony on the bill of Sen. Mansfield to limit meat imports.

He termed the action of Anderson a "meaningful bi-partisan approach that can get results" and cautioned against attempting to make a "partisan political approach in an election year" to a problem of wide importance.

Such action, he declared, is "divisive and harmful."

Morrison has been criticized by some Nebraska Republicans because he did not testify in favor of the meat import reduction measure of Sen. Hruska, R-Neb.

Morrison said his action substantiates the position taken by his administration last December.

"Action needs to be taken when action needs to be taken," Morrison said. "These problems can't be solved by political oratory."

Morrison made the comment while in Omaha to attend a meeting of the Missouri River states committee.

Rights Vote Is Due; South Quits Talking

Washington (AP) — Southern foes of the civil rights bill shut off their talks Wednesday at least temporarily — after 15 days of it — and set the stage for Thursday's expected first showdown voting.

There was only one speech against the measure — by Sen. Herman Talmadge, D-Ga., who held the floor 2 hours and 45 minutes to read the 55-page text of the House-passed measure. He said he thought it should be in the record.

Talmadge was interrupted several times for remarks on extraneous subjects, comment on the bill and an argument between opposing sides over whether a filibuster already was under way and over interpretation of the bill's language.

Other Subjects

Then the Senate heard four hours of talk on other subjects. Sen. Thomas J. McIntyre, D-N.J., made a brief speech in support of the measure and no other southerner took the floor to speak against it.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., floor manager for the bill, said this was a clear indication that the Dixie forces were ready to vote. The agreement to vote was an informal one made Tuesday. So Humphrey abandoned earlier plans for another night session and the Senate recessed at 5:09 p.m. CST.

Majority leader Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., told a reporter he expects the vote on his motion to take up the measure — focus of the 15 days of debate — to come up soon after the Senate meets Thursday at 8 a.m. This is expected to carry easily.

The second vote, on a motion by Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., to send the measure to the judiciary committee for 10 days, should come by mid-afternoon, Mansfield said.

After Fire, Folks Help Korean War Turncoat

Olympia, Wash. (AP) — For nine years, Korean War turncoat Otho G. Bell and his family lived surrounded by a wall of hostility.

Then, on Monday, a fire destroyed their home and all their belongings.

Wednesday neighbors, friends and strangers were rallying to the aid of Bell, one of 21 U.S. soldiers who defected to Communist China after the Korean War, and his wife and four children.

"It has really been wonderful the way they have been," Mrs. Bell said.

Many Offers

Offers of food, clothing and household supplies have poured in through efforts of the East Olympia Fire Department, church friends and school classmates of their daughter, Paula. Mrs. Bell said even strangers have called on the telephone to offer help.

Their four-room house, valued at $5,000 to $6,000, carried no insurance. Bell and his wife built it themselves in the past two years, cutting down trees on their property for some of the logs.

"I must have peeled poles for six months," Mrs. Bell said. "It might not have been much, but it was just as good as a mansion because it belonged to us."

First Real Home

It was their first real house since Bell came home. Before building it, they lived in a one-room trailer with a lean-to.

Mrs. Bell said the fire apparently was started by their youngest son, Grayson, 4, who was playing with matches in a clothes closet.

Neighbors have offered to help build another house. Until it is built, they will live in a small, unoccupied house offered them by Mrs. Bell's sister, Mrs. Bernard Griffin. It has no water.

Misfortunes

The fire was the latest in a series of misfortunes for the family. Grayson was nearly killed in an auto accident. Pamela, 6, has cerebral palsy. Bell, 33, has had trouble keeping permanent employment. Only last week, he obtained a job as a painter.

"It has been harder for him because people can't let him do anything without bringing up his background," said Mrs. Bell. But she added, "I don't think we've had any more misfortunes than anybody else. I'll be hard, but we're going to start right back over again."

Conference On Rural Youth Slated Here On Nov. 20-21

A Nebraska conference for Rural Children and Youth will be held at Nebraska Center Nov. 20-21, the Rural Children and Youth Steering Committee agreed at a meeting in Lincoln Wednesday.

Mrs. Anne Campbell of Lincoln, chairman of the steering committee, said approximately 300 participants are anticipated at the conference, which will be a follow-up to the national conference at Stillwater, Okla., last September.

The steering committee also agreed to a tentative list of discussion areas for the conference.

With all of its studies geared to gathering information on problems at the rural level, the committee approved discussion areas involving economic opportunities, community development, health and safety, juvenile delinquency, spiritual development, education, (both vocational and general) and leisure time activities.

Through the studies, the committee hopes to explore problems in rural areas which are in need of attention and on which more information is required, Mrs. Campbell said.

Dr. Rosalie Farley of the University of Nebraska is vice chairman of the steering committee.

Melbeta Coed IFYE Delegate To Uruguay

Nebraska's Farm Youth Exchange delegates (IFYE's) are coming and going at an almost confusing pace.

Diana Gotch of Melbeta was announced this week as an IFYE delegate to Uruguay. Virgil Wagner of Hooper, previously announced as an IFYE to Switzerland, will report to Washington on April 8, preparatory to sailing for Europe April 15. And Karen Edeal of Overton was among 30 young men and women returning to the U.S. this week after six months of living and working with families and groups in three continents and the South Pacific. Miss Edeal has been living in Australia.

The latest of the three 1964 IFYE's from Nebraska to be revealed, Miss Gatch is the 21-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Neil Gatch of Melbeta, and is a senior majoring in English at Nebraska Wesleyan University.

Holdrege Ballot Indicates Quiet Spring Election

Holdrege (AP)—A short ballot with only a single race, is an indicator that the municipal election here will be a quiet one. All incumbents for various offices with the exception of those who declined nomination to succeed themselves, were nominated at both Peoples' and Temperance party caucuses.

Mayor Harold P. Kenfield has no opposition in his bid for re-election, nor do Councilmen Meredith Robinson and Floyd Noble.

The only race is for a member of the board of education. Stanley Tederman, whose term expires this year, declined renomination. Dr. Robert Patrick and Jack Boyd are candidates for the post. Keith O. Johnson, other school board member, was nominated to succeed himself.

Robert Trenchard and Ted Johnson, airport authority incumbents are candidates to succeed themselves and Larry Miller is the sole candidate for municipal judge.

There are no special issues coming up for vote.

Fulbright Urges Treaty Changes

Washington (AP) — Sen. J. W. Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, called Wednesday for prompt revision of the Panama Canal Treaty and acceptance of Communist Cuba.

In a Senate speech, the Arkansas Democrat urged abandonment of the American boycott of Cuba "because it has failed," and ruled out two other alternatives — invasion and blockade — because of the dangers of nuclear war.

"The (Prime Minister Di- del) Castro regime is not on the verge of collapse and is not likely to be overthrown," he said.

This leaves the option of accepting it "as a distasteful nuisance but not an intolerable danger," he said.

The Panama issue, Fulbright said, is a test of American wisdom and judgment, not of "our courage and resolve," and added: "It seems to me entirely

Doctors Think MacArthur Will Make 'Full Recovery'

Washington (UPI) — Gen. Douglas MacArthur should recover fully from two major operations and lead a normal life, doctors at Walter Reed Army Hospital said Wednesday night.

The 84-year-old five-star general still was gravely ill after undergoing two operations within 18 days — one for removal of his gall bladder and gall stones, the second to stop internal bleeding and remove his spleen.

But he fought the illnesses so stubbornly that even the doctors were amazed.

Brig. Gen. Henry S. Murphey, director of the hospital center, said Wednesday night that MacArthur still is seriously ill, "but his condition is satisfactory. His condition on Monday was extremely critical."

Murphey said MacArthur so far has received only such foods as broth and milk.

The fact that he was able to take food of any kind by mouth was a heartening sign. He had been fed intravenously since undergoing the second operation on Monday to stop internal bleeding caused by a varicose vein in his esophagus.

Wednesday night's medical report said the removal of the general's gall bladder and spleen should not "inhibit" him physically.

Dillon Halts Great Run On Silver $

Washington (UPI) — The great silver dollar run ended Wednesday.

Treasury Secretary Douglas Dillon announced Wednesday afternoon that the Treasury no longer will exchange silver dollars for dollars. From now on, silver certificates will be redeemed in silver bullion only.

Dillon explained that the recent run on silver dollars at the Treasury had reduced the stock to about 3 million. Since virtually all these would be of value to coin collectors, he said, it would not be possible to distribute them equitably.

Treasury officials explained that if the last 3 million silver dollars were handed out, they would almost certainly end up in collections rather than in circulation.

Lined Up

For days, collectors have been lined up at the Treasury to trade paper money for the cartwheels. Interest was aroused because Congress has refused to authorize further minting of them, and because the government came across a supply of so-called "Morgan" dollars minted years ago.

Officials said Wednesday it is the Treasury's policy to distribute coins wherever possible for use only as currency.

They also indicated they were distressed by the crowds that have all but stormed the Treasury building during the past two weeks.

Not at Treasury Anyone wishing to exchange silver certificates for bullion will be permitted to do so at the New York and San Francisco assay offices but not at the Treasury. Small exchanges will be made in silver crystals, large ones in silver bars.

The rate of exchange is $1.29 an ounce, the Treasury said.

The government now holds about $1.7 billion worth of bullion. About $33 million worth of bullion was purchased last year mostly for industrial uses.

What To Do?

Officials said the Treasury might ask Congress how to get rid of the remaining 3 million silver dollars. The dollars might be melted, sold at auction, handed out over the counter or shipped out to the Federal Reserve banks in the West where silver dollars serve as currency, they said.

The House Tuesday refused to okay production of silver dollars because of the time needed by U.S. mints to turn out badly needed pennies, nickels, dimes, quarters and halves.

Rep. Arnold Olsen, D-Mont., said, however, that Senate silver dollars forces could win approval to mint $100 million in cartwheels.

Pesky Says Bosox Two Players Away

... BUT BOSTON BOSS MUST GO WITH RETURNING STARTERS

Scottsdale, Ariz. (UPI) — Manager Johnny Pesky rates his Boston Red Sox as "a couple of ball players away from being a pennant contender" but he seems destined to go with the same club that finished seventh in the American League last season.

"We tried like heck to swing a deal at the major league meetings but couldn't close anything," Pesky says.

The hunt is on for a catcher — The Red Sox tried to get Del Crandall who wound up at San Francisco — Another outfielder and the usual pitcher.

So it will be the same faces again at Fenway Park, starting with the infield.

Ed Bressoud, one of the game's most capable shortstops, is on hand again. He says candidly, "We'll have to improve defensively — and that includes myself — if we're to move into the first division."

Defensive Problem
Dick Stuart, who has his

BOBBY SHANTZ

problems on defense but swings the mighty bat, returns to first base with Chuck Schilling at second and Frank Malzone at third.

Stuart hopes to cut down on the 145 strikeouts he recorded in 1963 but there are no complaints over his 42 home runs and league-leading 118 RBI's.

Pesky may have the veteran Felix Mantilla spell Schilling at second base.

"Chuck just became exhausted last summer," Pesky says of the Brooklyn youth who batted .234 after hitting over .300 for the first two months of the campaign.

Malzone, who skidded with the rest of the Sox after the All-Star break, still finished up with a .291 average.

The big name in the outfield is on the left side where Carl Yastrzemski will be defending his American League batting title. "Yaz" would like to beef up the average by 10 points this season to .331.

Bounce Back
Pesky looks for Roman Mejias to bounce back in center from the .227 season he had last year. Lou Clinton, in right, batted only .232 but still hit 22 homers and knocked in 77 tallies.

The status of luckless Gary Geiger is questionable. After recovering from a collapsed lung a couple of seasons ago, the speedy outfielder underwent surgery for ulcers this spring and won't join the club until well into the exhibition season if then.

Pitching has a six foot, nine inch question mark in Gene Conley (3-4). A big disappointment last year, he spent a good part of it on the disabled list due to injuries which the club brass traces to playing for the New York Knicks.

But "Gino" went on the voluntary retired list before the current NBA season ended and Pesky thinks the right-hander could recapture some of the talent he showed in other years at Boston.

Reliable Bill Monbouquette (20-10) is back with Conley as a right-handed starter along with Earl Wilson (11-16) who is working with pitching coach Bob Turley on control problems.

A good bet for a left-handed starter is Bill Spanwick, 14-8 last year at Seattle. Wilbur Wood is another lefty who garnered valuable experience along with lumps while dropping all five decisions last year at Boston.

Could Be Great
Dave Morehead (10-13), hailed by Turley as a "guy who can finish off a batter with either his fast ball or curve," could be great if he puts everything together. And Bob Hefner (4-9) is rated a good, thinking pitcher.

Dick Radatz, the most feared relief pitcher in the league, is back with his fireball and 15-6 mark along with a tidy earned run average of 1.98. He is complemented by Jack Lamabe, a surprise last year when he posted a 7-4 mark after coming to the club with Stuart from Pittsburgh.

Catching is a problem. Russ Nixon, a good player, is inclined to get hurt. Bob Tillman starred for Pesky at Seattle but as a major leaguer is batting .227.

"We seem set at every position but somebody could come up with a hot hand," Pesky said.

This could be Tony Conigliaro, one of the Sox's designated rookies. He batted .360 last season at Wellspring of the New York - Pennsylvania League and hit 24 home runs in 83 contests.

Valentine Stays In Basin League

Valentine (8) — The Valentine Hearts, defending play-off champions of the Basin League, announced Wednesday a team will be entered in the 1964 Basin League season.

The Hearts, which experienced some financial difficulties, plan to hold a meeting sometime before April 4 to elect a board of directors and officers for the coming season.

Valentine's entry makes the sixth team to join the league for 1964 summer baseball. Other league teams include Sioux Falls, Pierre, Winner, Sturgis and Rapid City.

A league meeting is scheduled April 4 at Sioux Falls to set up the baseball schedule.

An improvement in moisture conditions must come soon or else Nebraska and other duck-production states are likely to have a less than normal duck crop.

Concordia Tabs Harms As Head Football Coach

Seward (AP)—Ronald Harms has been named head football coach at Concordia Teachers College succeeding Ralph Starenko, who went to Augustana College, Rock Island Ill.

Advancement of Harms, presently assistant professor of physical education, was announced by President W. Theo Janzow.

President Janzow said Harms declined an assistant's post at Augustana. He has been assistant football coach at Concordia.

Lincoln Jaycees Schedule Rodeo

A rodeo, sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, has been scheduled for Lincoln June 26-28, Jaycees president Gregory Kallos said Wednesday.

The rodeo will be held at the State Fairgrounds. One performance is slated for opening day with two shows on Saturday and Sunday.

agent of the Department of Interior's Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife, reported generally dry conditions throughout the state with below normal surface water conditions at mid-March.

Waterfowl migration began the week of March 9, he said, with peak concentration of white-fronted geese and little brown cranes now present on the Platte River in south central Nebraska. All species of ducks were present at mid-March and moving rapidly through the state.

The Minneapolis regional office of the bureau reported similarly dry conditions prevailed through Minnesota, Iowa and the Dakotas.

This threat of a continuing drought of the major duck-production areas of the nation follows several years of drought throughout the prairie states and Canada and a steady decline in the numbers of migratory waterfowl.

B. Johnson Named To Interior Job

Co-Ordinator For Missouri Basin

Omaha (AP)—Appointment of Bruce Johnson as Department of Interior co-ordinator for all interior agencies involved in the Missouri River development program was announced Wednesday. He will headquarter in Omaha where the Missouri River division of the Corps of Engineers also is headquartered.

Gov. William L. Guy of North Dakota, presiding at a meeting of the Missouri River States Committee in the absence of Gov. Archie Gubbrud of South Dakota, chairman, said the announcement came in a telegram from Kenneth Holm, undersecretary of interior.

Johnson is presently region 6 Reclamation Bureau director at Billings, Mont.

Praises Move

Gov. Frank Morrison of Nebraska, the only other governor present, termed the move "a major step forward in co-ordinating efforts." He said he hoped other agencies involved in the Missouri Basin development program would take similar action.

The committee unanimously approved a resolution offered by Morrison urging the appropriations committees of both House and Senate to appropriate for the "full capability" of the Army Engineers in construction of the nine-foot channel of the Missouri River to Sioux City, Iowa. The resolution asks for an appropriation of $4.8 millions for the Missouri between Kansas City and Omaha-Council Bluffs, and $4.5 millions for Omaha-Council Bluffs north to Sioux City. Present budget estimates call for $2.7 millions between Kansas City and Omaha-Council Bluffs and $3.5 millions from Omaha-Council Bluffs to Sioux City.

The resolution noted that the reach below Kansas City is scheduled for completion by 1966 and a three-year delay in completing the upper reaches would have serious economic consequences.

The resolution said the additional funds are "most urgently needed and recommended."

Eight of the 10 Missouri Basin states were represented. Weather prevented Gov. Cliff Hansen of Wyoming and Gov. Gubbrud from attending.

The states committee, companion body to the Missouri Basin Inter-Agency committee, endorsed the water resources planning act, the federal-states rights relationship bill, the land and water conservation fund act and the wetlands bill providing payments in lieu of taxes for wetlands acquired by the federal government for waterfowl habitat. All these bills are now before Congress.

The committee opposed an amendment to the water pollution act, which Guy said appeared to give the federal government control over nearly all streams in the nation with regard to pollution.

Further study was recommended on the federal water projects recreation act and a study group was set up to recommend possible amendments.

The committee asked that Congress take no action on HR9903, an amendment to the Interstate Commerce Commission act and the Federal Aviation Agency act of 1958 until public hearings can be held. This measure would allow railroads in effect to set maximum and minimum rates without the jurisdiction of the ICC, Guy said.

Mills Gets Post

Wakefield — Harry Mills, now superintendent of schools at Callaway, has accepted a similar post with the Wakefield schools. He replaces Roland Bowers, who plans to continue work on his doctorate at the University of Nebraska.

Railway Unionist Arrested

Miami, Fla. (AP)—A 40-year-old union local official was arrested Wednesday and charged with trying to dynamite a Florida East Coast Railway train March 12.

He was the fourth person arrested during an FBI investigation of the violence that has racked the railroad since a strike began Jan. 23, 1963.

The union official, John Katsikos, father of four, was arraigned and ordered held under $50,000 bond. He had no lawyer and his only comment at the arraignment was: "My wife knows I'm arrested and she's doing something about it."

Conspiracy Charge

Katsikos, an FEC car inspector for 10 years, was charged with placing dynamite on a trestle in Indian River County March 12. He was also charged with conspiracy.

Two other men were arrested that night after an 18-man FBI stakeout at the trestle. They were John Wesley Davis, 23, of Port St. Lucie, and Joseph Leo Vedder, 32, of Miami.

FBI agents said Davis and Vedder and a third man placed 15 sticks of dynamite on the track and then drove away in a Cadillac. The agents said the third man escaped when the Cadillac eluded them on the way into Fort Pierce. The FBI would not comment on whether Katsikos was the third man.

Miamian

Hugh Winn, 56, of Miami, was arrested March 13 and charged with conspiracy.

The FBI said Katsikos is recording secretary of Local 555 of the Brotherhood of Railroad Carmen.

The other three arrested men were also members of operating unions, which are not on strike but are observing picket lines set up by non-operating unions.

PRINCE JEAN

CHARLOTTE RENOUNCES HER CROWN

Luxembourg (AP)—Grand Duchess Charlotte formally renounced Wednesday the crown she has worn through 45 years of war and peace in little Luxembourg.

The 68-year-old grand duchess, beloved by her 330,000 subjects in their 1,000 square-mile European Common Market country, announced she will step down in November in favor of her son, Prince Jean, 43.

She is timing her abdication with the opening winter session of the house of representatives after the June elections.

Informed sources said the grand duchess wanted to quit the throne earlier, but the leaders of the three main political parties asked her to delay until after the elections. Her decision thus was expected by the people.

She is reported in good health, but believes that after the longest reign of any crowned head in Europe it is time to quit.

"I feel I have reached the age to retire, and I think (Prince) Jean is of age to take over," court sources quoted her as saying recently.

Nebraska Senators Hit By Freeman For Insistence To Cut Beef Imports

Washington (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman criticized Nebraska's two senators — Roman Hruska and Carl T. Curtis — Wednesday for their insistence on tighter beef import restrictions.

At the same time, Freeman lashed out at the House Republican Policy Committee and the American Farm Bureau Federation for opposing the administration wheat-cotton bill now tied up in the House.

In discussing current controversies over the low cattle prices and beef imports, Freeman insisted that he has done previously that the foreign supplies have played only a major role in the domestic cattle price situation. He said the major cause of lower cattle prices is a big build-up in beef cattle herds.

He said the department has calculated that beef imports last year cost Nebraska cattlemen only about $12.5 million. Yet, he said, the two senators voted against wheat legislation designed to keep income of Nebraska wheat growers from dropping $35 million this year.

"At a time when the nation is seeking through every conceivable means to encourage the rate of economic growth and to reduce unemployment—at a time when the Congress has just enacted the largest tax cut in history—the efforts to defeat the farm legislation are contrary to the interest of the wage earner and the farmer," Freeman said.

He told a news conference that the Republicans obviously are motivated by partisan politics. He said the Farm Bureau is engaged in what he called a "shocking effort to turn city consumers against farmers."

The Farm Bureau contends the administration wheat plan would raise bread prices—a contention which Freeman called false. Another Bureau contention is that the program would impose unwanted government controls.

Freeman said the Republicans and the Farm Bureau are following courses which are not only short-sighted but "destructive to the fabric of the whole economy."

He said defeat of the wheat program would cost farmers $450 million in income this year. If approved, he said, the wheat and cotton plans together would provide over 58,000 additional jobs outside agriculture this year.

The secretary also sharply criticized members of Congress who are pressing for legislation to impose tighter restrictions on beef imports.

Burney Urges Imported Beef Labeling Law

Lt. Gov. Dwight Burney Wednesday proposed that the 1964 Nebraska Legislature require the labeling of all imported beef offered for sale if Congress doesn't do something to reduce beef imports.

"In case the federal government doesn't take definite action in limiting foreign meats, it would seem reasonable that the next session of the Nebraska Legislature would require that imported meats be so labeled," Burney said.

Burney—a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor—also noted that some Nebraska cities have already passed ordinance requiring butchers to label imported meats.

Customer Signing Of Beef Import Petitions Urged

Valentine (AP)—The secretary-manager of the Sand Hills Cattle Association urged businessmen Wednesday to have petitions available for customers to sign protesting beef imports.

Lin Helton suggested that instead of sending the petitions to Nebraska's congressional delegation that they be sent to manufacturers, along with a personal letter explaining the situation and asking for their support.

ANGEL ASCENDS AT FAIR

A golden statue of the Angel Moroni is lifted by crane to top of Mormon Pavilion at New York World's Fair Wednesday. The nine-foot statue was placed atop spire at left, 127 feet above fairgrounds. Members of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints (Mormons) believe the Angel Moroni was an ancient American prophet, last survivor of a great civilization destroyed long ago.

Basin Leaders Discuss Lag In Channel Project

Omaha (AP)—A group of Missouri Basin leaders from eight cities urged President Lyndon Johnson to support a $4.8 million appropriation for Missouri River channel work between Kansas City and Omaha and $4.5 million from Omaha to Sioux City.

The group, calling themselves the Missouri River Joint Action Committee of the Mississippi Valley Association, made the request in a telegram drafted at a meeting of 26 leaders from Sioux City, South Sioux City, Omaha, Council Bluffs, Nebraska City, Fremont and Lincoln.

This group included shippers, freight receivers, businessmen, and grain farmers.

They discussed in detail ways of eliminating the three-year time lag in development of the 9-foot channel on the Missouri which has been authorized for the portion of the Missouri from Kansas City to the mouth, but not from the reaches above Kansas City.

The telegram said in part that although the group is gratified at the administration's recommendation for the earliest possible completion of the nine-foot navigation channel below Kansas City "by approving the Army Engineers full capacity figure for 1965," they are deeply concerned that the administration's budget requests for reaches above Kansas City are well below the full capability of the engineers.

"This completely alters the time schedule long considered valid by citizens of the basin and upon which millions of dollars in river facilities have been constructed in recent years," the telegram said. "Full analysis discloses that the economic consequences of such a time lag would be disastrous."

Pakistan Claims 29 Civilians Shot By Indian Troops

Muzaffarabad, Kashmir (AP)—Authorities of the Pakistani-controlled sector of Kashmir said Wednesday Indian troops crossed into the Pakistani sector Tuesday night and attacked three villages, killing three civilians and capturing 26 who subsequently were shot dead.

The government said the raided villages, all on its side of the U.N. cease-fire line, were Khoja Bandi, Lari and Bara.

There has been sporadic shooting in the disputed border state for weeks. Indians said they killed 24 Pakistanis who staged a raid into the Indian-controlled portion of Kashmir 50 miles west of Srinagar Monday night.

Sir Alec Defies Parliament Revolt, Presses Try To Kill Price Fixing

London (AP) — Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home pushed ahead Wednesday with his bill to kill price fixing, defying a House of Commons revolt threatening to bring down his Conservative government.

Brushing aside a humiliating near-defeat in parliament Tuesday night, Douglas-Home ordered his ministers to press on with the legislation opposed by rebels within his own party and by opposition Laborites, too. A test motion to exempt drugs and medicines was defeated 244-203.

An official recount showed 31 Conservatives voted against the government on the bill to outlaw resale price maintenance — the practice by which manufacturers fix the price that retailers must charge.

In another test Wednesday night on a further amendment to the prices bill, the government won with a margin of 80 votes. This amendment also was offered by six Conservative rebels. It was defeated 244-164.

The battle is far from over. About 170 similar amendments still are down for discussion and possible voting.

Had the government lost the test vote it would have been under no legal obligation to quit, since the issue was not a major vote of confidence.

Sir Alec faced his biggest obstacle since coming to power last autumn.

He was beset on both flanks. If he backs down, acknowledges that the bill is doomed and scraps it, he will face accusations that he is not seriously attempting to bring down the cost of living — an issue popular with housewives.

And if he stands his ground he will divide and weaken his party at a crucial moment.

The bill has whipped up strong feelings in and out of Parliament. Opponents believe it threatens the livelihood of thousands of small shopkeepers who, in the price competition that would follow, would be swallowed by the huge supermarket chains.

Some Conservatives say it was a disastrous move for the government even to consider such a contentious piece of legislation in an election year. They believe it has alienated the loyalty of thousands of members of Britain's shopkeeper class, normally staunch Conservative voters.

TUOMIOJA APPOINTED

Geneva (AP) — U.N. Secretary-General U Thant Wednesday appointed Sakari S. Tuomioja, a former premier of Finland, to seek a peace settlement between the feuding Greek and Turkish communities in Cyprus. Tuomioja will go to Cyprus next Wednesday.

Approval of Tuomioja came from the Greek, Turkish and British governments. Archbishop Makarios, the Greek president of Cyprus and Vice President Fazil Kutchuk, leader of the Turkish minority on the island.

The amiable 52-year-old politician and diplomat thus took on his formidable assignment with the apparent good will of all sides.

"It will probably take longer than three months for me to get any results," Tuomioja told reporters in Stockholm. "But it is mostly guessing. I got the impression U Thant thinks it will take five or six months."

He described his task as "my most difficult assignment so far. I am, however, quite convinced it is possible to establish peace on Cyprus or I would not have undertaken this."

He said he had not yet decided how to begin his work or what to do to bring the feuding communities together.

Martin Criticizes Poverty Program

By The Associated Press
Rep. Dave Martin, R-Neb., said in comment on the administration's "poverty program" that "if the government doesn't stop this spending we will have to enact a poverty program for all of our taxpayers, as they will be so poor they can't pay their taxes."

Martin put a price tag of $962.5 million on the first year of the so-called poverty program, "the economic opportunity act of 1964." He estimated it would cost $50 billion in 50 years.

Gromyko Emphasizes Russians Won't Pay Disavowed U.N. Costs

Helsinki, Finland (UPI) — Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko emphasized Wednesday that his government has no intention of paying any of the costs assessed by the United Nations for operations which it disapproves.

Gromyko's statement came at a news conference on the eve of his return to Moscow after a five-day visit to Finland.

Asked for comment on remarks by Adlai E. Stevenson, U.S. ambassador to the U.N., that member states in arrears might lose their U.N. vote, Gromyko said:

"The Soviet Union already has expressed its views on this matter. We have also expressed our views on various other acts which are contrary to the U.N. Charter.

"Now we are requested to pay such costs which are the results of acts of colonial powers. There is no use expecting that we will take part in paying for these costs, which are against the U.N. Charter and which are contrary to the interests of world peace."

Among the operations involved are the U.N. peacekeeping forces in the Middle East and the Congo.

Gromyko also restated Moscow policy on a broad range of international issues, including Germany, disarmament, Cyprus and trade. He made these main comments:

On the cold war: "There are many things which threaten world peace—the absence of a peace treaty with the two German states and the fact that general and complete disarmament has not yet been achieved."

On whether disarmament can be carried out by step-by-step agreement in nuclear free zones:

"What is meant by step-by-step? If the suggestion is that these are to be achieved over a certain period of time, there is the danger that the whole idea will be buried... The NATO powers do not seem to be interested in disarmament."

Rocky Can't Start Stampede In Battle Over Liquor Laws

Albany, N.Y. (UPI) — The state legislature Wednesday night refused to be stampeded by a fighting mad Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, who put his national prestige on the line in a showdown fight over state liquor laws.

Despite demands by Rockefeller that they "uproot seedbeds of corruption" and reorganize state liquor laws, the GOP-controlled legislature decided to put over until Thursday debate and vote on the issue.

The governor earlier in the day put not only his national image but possibly his chances for the 1964 Republican presidential nomination before the heavily-Republican body.

Political observers believe that if Rockefeller cannot persuade a legislature dominated by his own party to pass his pet bills, his national image could suffer a fatal blow.

Assembly Speaker Joseph Carlino, after a two-hour meeting of the Republican majority, announced that the liquor law bill would be put over. Similar action was taken by the senate. The move extended the life of the 187th Legislature, which had been expected to adjourn Wednesday.

Certain legislators said privately Rockefeller's blistering message to the legislature may have doomed his program.
